ROUTED GERMANS IN FLIGHT OVER 150-MILE FRONT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—American troops in close pursuit of the Germans retiring north of the Vesle have captured the villages of Bazoches, Perles, Fismette and Daslieux, taking prisoners and machine guns, Gen. Pershing reported in his communique for today, received tonight at the War Department. The American forces, Gen. Pershing said, have reached the general line Vauxcere-Blanzy-le Grand Hameau. American aviators also have successfully bombed the railroad yards at Longuyon, Domary-Darsucourt and Conflans.

ERSHING'S ARMY TO HIT DECISIVE BLOW, IS BELIEF

ed Indications of Important, New Phase of Battle are Contained in Dispatches from the Front.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HINGTON, Sept. 4.—Reports from Flanders and on the Vesle indicated today that new retirements were in progress in both places, due to the combination of the British thrust in the center and Gen. ...'s flanking movement toward the Chemin des Dames. The advance of Franco-American forces across the Vesle indicates that the German ... at this end of the battle front is being forced back toward the ... by the pressure from the flank.

All the dispatches from abroad officers here noted again today veiled hints that some new and important phase of the battle is to be expected shortly. There was an air of expectancy among both unofficial and official commentators which produced the impression that Marshal ... preparing for a new blow. If this is the case it is believed here ... employment of Gen. Pershing's army may well be included in the ... the object being to hit with full force of the American and Allied ... now that the German disorganization appears to be spreading and ... quickening.

... number of men sent ... than to France, however, ... 10,000, leaving more ... million and a half American soldiers available for the use of the supreme commander in the great battle.

The size of this American force becomes increasingly important as the scope of the new British assault at the very corner of the German line on the Douai-Cambrai front becomes apparent. In the opinion of army officials, the breakdown of the German lines on this front may prove the entering wedge for Allied successes of a sweeping nature.

SMASHING TOWARD CAMBRAI.

In his midweek conference with newspaper correspondents, Gen. March reviewed the battle situation of the last three or four days, noting particularly that the British in the most important phase of the battle east of Arras had smashed their way across the Hindenburg line on an eight-mile front with Cambrai as their objective.

The major enemy resistance along the whole sixty-mile battle front from the Scarpe to the Oise, he said, had been encountered and over-

THE WAR. The Latest: An after-midnight dispatch from the Associated Press correspondent in Paris states that Gen. Humbert's Third Army has been fighting a desperate battle for the past two days northeast of Noyon along the line of the Canal du Nord in the neighborhood of Campaigne and Genvry. The determination of the French troops eventually overcame the powerful resistance of the enemy, who early today began to give way along the entire front.

The Germans had fortified the canal in the most formidable manner with great fields of barbed wire, cemented shelters and defense systems bristling with machine guns hidden beyond enormous logs.

The enemy machine gunners had orders to hold at all costs and die at their posts, rather than give ground. In many instances they did so, and the advance of the French had to be made literally foot by foot.

The object of the French maneuver was to attain the northern border of the hilly mass formed by Autrecourt Wood, thus menacing Guiscard. When the German line began to give way the French cavalry joined in the action, and early this morning reached the farm of St. Martin, on the road between Noyon and Guiscard. The infantry advanced to a front running through Salincy, Bourbetreuse and eastward through Tarlefesse, Foilbarbe, Crisolles and Fretoy-le-Chateau. Behind the German lines, Jussy, Chauny and La Fere can be seen in flames.

The French are pursuing the enemy and keeping in closest touch.

I.W.W. BLAMED FOR BOMB BLAST IN CHICAGO; FOUR ARE KILLED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A bomb exploding in the entrance of the Federal Building this afternoon killed four persons and wounded seventy-five others.

The blast was attributed to the I.W.W. by Philip J. Barry, acting chief of the local Federal Investigation Bureau.

While the city police were rushing the wounded to hospitals, Federal agents hurried from the building and made two raids on I.W.W. headquarters. Nine men were bagged at these places and a woman was grabbed in a nearby office building. Her identity is being kept secret.

"This outrage, in my opinion, was inevitable as an act of reprisal on the part of the I.W.W.," Mr. Barry declared after a hurried investigation, "following the sentencing of nearly a hundred of their members. We are certain that the I.W.W. committed this deed. I believe that the bomb was composed of nitroglycerine. Several arrests have been made and we are questioning the prisoners as fast as we can. All persons known to be of radical thought will be brought in for examination."

BATTLE BULLETINS.

FROM OFFICIAL REPORTS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Canal du Nord and the Tortille River have been crossed on a wide front north of Moislains, by English and Welsh troops, according to Field Marshal Haig's communication issued tonight. Moislains lies about three miles north of Peronne.

In their push beyond the Drocourt-Queant line British troops have reached the line of the Canal du Nord, says his earlier statement. North of the Arras-Cambrai road they have occupied the town of Ecourt St. Quentin. Slight advances have been scored at other points. Continuing their advance in Flanders, the British are approaching Neuve Chapelle and Laventie. In the same region they have gained possession of Sailly-Sur-Lallys and Nieppe.

BATTLE SUMMARY

HUN FLEES, YPRES TO RHEIMS

[Resume by the Associated Press.]

The Germans are now giving ground over the entire 150-mile battle front from Ypres to Rheims.

Seemingly the question whether the Germans will be able to hold even relatively their present line from Flanders to Champagne is being answered. And the answer apparently is negative.

Marshal Foch's strategy, which imposed on the Germans the necessity of falling back in Flanders, Artois and Picardy, is compelling the enemy to withdraw from the Vesle between Soissons and Rheims, northward toward the Aisne.

Outflanked on all defensive works along the western part of the battle line and in great danger of a turning movement eastward from the regions of Noyon and Soissons, the German high command has been forced to begin the retrograde movement

Cannon Firing at Blank Range.

English Rush Field Artillery into First Line to Batter Enemy.

Win Crossings Over Canal Du Nord; Advance at Every Point.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Sept. 4.—(Reuter's, Limited.)—Enemy rear guards yesterday succeeded in engaging the British advancing troops here and there and in fighting delayed actions, which were usually of short duration. But they did not check the galloping up of our batteries, which frequently fired at point-blank range into the struggling columns retreating to the eastward.

The enemy did not have time to destroy all the crossings over the Canal du Nord, and last night our patrols were reported by airmen to be holding two bridges well in line with the British advance.

British troops appear to have reached the outskirts of Moeuvres, where stiff fighting is probable, as at that point the front and support trenches of the Hindenburg line are linked up by a redoubt which covers about a square mile. But as Buiry and Inchy are held by the British, it should not be difficult to turn the position by coming down in the rear of the enemy.

During the day the British Third Army rounded up 1946 prisoners and twenty-two field guns. Further north the Canadians and English collected another 720 prisoners.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 4, noon.—British troops were reported this morning to have taken the town of Moeuvres, three and one-half miles southeast of Queant, but the capture of the place was not confirmed.

The Germans are in full flight in the region of the Canal du Nord and appear to be more than ever disorganized. A thousand more prisoners were captured last night by Field Marshal Haig's forces.

The British today pushed forward to the Canal du Nord and are establishing posts on the western bank. Attempts to cross the canal have in every case been met with heavy machine-gun fire.

Reports from the north and south indicate that virtually the whole of the British front is being moved up. Local attacks in the north are helping the Germans to decide to move faster.

In the Drocourt battle zone the British have occupied territory east of Inchy-en-Artois and are holding the canal crossings northwest and southeast of the town.

In Rumaucourt, captured and left behind by the advancing British, forty French civilians were found.

Further south the British hold Permies, Demicourt, Manancourt and the ridge to the east and also Le Chelle.

Field Marshal Haig's forces have entered Ytres, southeast of Bapaume, and northeast of Peronne the enemy still is retreating. The British have reached Moislains and there has been fighting in the streets of the village. Other British forces have started moving in a southeasterly direction down the canal to meet another force coming up from Allaines and are cleaning up the Germans in that locality.

South of the Arras-Cambrai road Canadian troops are on the canal bank on a front of 2000 yards. The British artillery now is pounding the area in the rear of the canal, while troops from the west bank everywhere are delivering a rain of machine-gun bullets on the enemy.

The Germans have destroyed the canal bridges at several places, including that to the east of Boursies.

There are indications that the Germans still are playing for time.

East of Peronne the British have made further slight advances.

In the north the Germans still are retiring and in many villages in various localities the torch has been applied.

Numerous explosions also have been reported, the Germans apparently blowing up their works and stores.

In the neighborhood of Richebourg-St. Vanst the British line has been advanced. More than 150 prisoners were taken and six 77-millimeter guns and two 4.2 howitzers were captured.

An advance was made in the La Motte sector and Nieppe and La Romain were occupied. North of here slight advances were reported by the British.

The destruction of the Canal du Nord crossings clearly shows that the Germans are entirely on the defensive and have definitely decided at least for the present to take the defeat administered without counter-attacking.

Pursuing Troops Near Guiscard on Main Noyon-Ham Highway.

Blazing Stores Indicate Plan of Enemy to Retire Further.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

FRENCH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 4.—(Reuter's.)—French cavalry today was closely pursuing the Germans retreating in the region between the River Somme and the River Oise, and had reached a point within a mile of Guiscard, five and a half miles northeast of Noyon.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 4.—(Noon.) South of the Noyon-Ham road the French are advancing toward Crisolles.

North of the Ailette the French are in the outskirts of Coucy-le-Chateau and have reached Bucy-le-Long, on the Aisne, besides scoring other advances on the plateau north of Soissons.

Between Soissons and Rheims the Vesle was crossed at several points.

Numerous conflagrations were observed during the night between the Vesle and the Aisne. Such fires are usually a rather sure sign of a withdrawal by the enemy.

The most violent reaction attempted by the Germans along the line of the French advance was in the region of Terny-Sorny, where they shelled the French first lines.

The transformation of the military situation resulting from the success of the Entente counter-offensive now is beginning to appear in all its significance. The Germans, failing in their July 15 drive, were able to carry out a retreat which although costly, did not result in the dislocation of their lines.

Now, however, their battle front is so badly pinched in some places and strained at others that they are unable to continue the stand they had taken on the strong positions in advance of the Hindenburg line south of the Somme.

Conclusive evidence has been obtained from prisoners that the troops defending the Canal du Nord and the plateau of Soissons were ordered to hold these positions at any cost. They were defended desperately, and were taken by the French only because the Germans could not hold them.

The sacrifices thus made by the Germans before the Canal du Nord, in front of the Ailette, on the plateau of Soissons and around Noyon, have availed them nothing, unless it has been possible to remove part of the material that would otherwise have fallen into Allied hands.

Turned by the advance of the French toward Guiscard, it would appear that the pocket between the Noyon-Ham road and the Noyon-Chauny road must be speedily emptied if the Germans hope to save from capture the men and material still there. The presence of the French at Guiscard would seriously menace Ham, six miles to the north, and the line of the Somme in this region. Thus there appears, on paper, no alternative for the Germans than a prompt retreat to the St. Quentin-La Fere line, which is a part of the Hindenburg position.

Germans Begin Withdrawal Over Aisne with Our Men Close Behind.

Allied Artillery Punishes Big Area Without Much Opposition.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE VESLE FRONT, Sept. 4.—A German withdrawal from the Vesle has begun. Combat patrols of Americans and French are close on their heels to the west of Bazoches and eastward to a point beyond Fismes.

Smart machine-gun resistance is being encountered. By all indications the Germans have withdrawn their main bodies to the north, possibly preparatory to crossing the Aisne.

Light forces of Americans have advanced their lines some distance north of the Vesle.

It became more apparent today that the Germans had given up the struggle to maintain a foothold north of the Vesle. American and French artillery continued their punishing fire over an area extending to the Aisne without bringing a reply that could be compared in intensity.

The advanced American detachments were confronted with the same sort of machine gun fire that the Germans have used in all other cases recently to hold off the oppoing forces, while maintaining good their retreat. But one by one the gun nests were taken by assault or forced to retire.

The withdrawal of the Germans is regarded as a direct result of the enormous pressure against their line extending north of Soissons. It will not be a surprise if a secondary resistance for another brief interval will be made where the line runs back toward Rheims.

It is pointed out that the Germans cannot afford to hold there long, since the same pressure will be exerted, and they cannot afford to leave a salient at that point. By shortening and straightening their line, with its base on the Chemin des Dames, the Germans will be able to release two of the four divisions for much needed support in other sectors.

The Germans carried out their retreat behind a smoke screen raised on the northern edge of the plateau north of the Vesle. French and American forces went forward quickly and tonight the American patrols are well to the north of the river with numerous towns and villages at their mercy.

A Cabinet council has been summoned to consider the situation.

REPARATION FOR DEATH OF ATTACHE DEMANDED.

London Threatens to Hold Members of Soviet Government Personally for the Acts of Criminals.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The British government has sent a telegram to the Bolshevik government at Moscow demanding reparation and prompt punishment of those culpable in the attack on the British Embassy at Petrograd on Saturday, when the embassy was sacked and Capt. Cromie, the British attache, was killed.

The British government threatens, in the event of the failure of the Bolshevik government to give satisfaction, or if there should be a repetition of acts of violence, to make the members of the Soviet government individually responsible and have them treated as outlaws by civilized nations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Belated dispatches reaching the State Department from Irkutsk, Siberia, via Peking, dated last August 13, say the Bolshevik army east of Lake Baikal has been destroyed by the Czecho-Slovaks; that Cossacks are co-operating with the Czechs and that all Americans in Siberia are safe.

When the messages were sent the provisional Siberian government formed at Omsk had formally declared war upon Germany, assumed the foreign debts and asked for Allied assistance.

United States Consul Harris was reported back at Irkutsk after a trip to Omsk and Tcheycyabinsk.

Reports of the killing of Sassinoff, former Russian Foreign Minister at Simdirsk, were confirmed.

Vice Consul Imbrie and all other Americans remaining in Moscow and Petrograd are well and at liberty, according to a dispatch received at the State Department today from Christiania. The information came from the Norwegian Charge at Petrograd.

AGREEMENTS RATIFIED.

CANAL DU NORD CROSSED; BRITISH MILE OTHER SIDE

Disorganized Germans Yield Good Line of Defense to Haig; Lens is Definitely Evacuated by Enemy.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Sept. 4, 7:10 p.m.—Field Marshal Haig's forces today crossed the Canal du Nord and were reported in the western outskirts of Neuville-Bourjouival, nearly a mile to the east of the canal, according to advices received here tonight from the battle front. The British also reached the northwestern part of Havrincourt Wood. Other British forces captured Moeuvres, six miles west of Cambrai.

The Canal du Nord was crossed by the British on a front of three miles. North of Peronne, British patrols entered Moislains and crossed the canal there. The British firmly hold Manancourt and Etricourt.

LONDON, Sept. 4, 7 p.m.—French and American forces today crossed the River Vesle at two places. They pushed over the stream at Bazoches and north of Fismes.

Fires are burning in the region north of the Vesle, and there are other indications that the Germans are withdrawing from the river.

LONDON, Sept. 4, 4:30 p.m.—The Germans are contemplating a general retirement from the Vesle region, where they have been facing the Americans and French along the river, according to indications reported from the battle front today. The recent Franco-American successes in the south apparently have prompted such a move.

Large convoys, the advices state, were seen moving toward the rear in this area today and bridges are being destroyed.

The Canal du Nord offered a good line of defense, the huge, dry ditch precluding tank work immediately to the west of Cambrai. The canal is uncompleted further south, however.

It has been definitely established that in trying to stem the drive begun by the Allies August 8 the Germans twice have used twenty-five of their divisions. Eight other divisions have been recreated and sent back into the fighting, with three companies, instead of the normal four, to a battalion.

At least two divisions of Austrian troops have been in action.

The British losses are still reported lighter than might be expected in operations of this magnitude.

LONDON, Sept. 4, 4:25 p.m.—The city of Lens has been definitely evacuated by the Germans, according to reports from Northern France today. The British, it is stated, are refraining from occupying it only because of the gas fumes remaining there.

Patrols protected against the fumes have entered the city, it is stated, and found it clear of the enemy.

LONDON, Sept. 4, 1 p.m. — The British have secured a hold on the west bank of the Canal du Nord by taking Rumaucourt, to the north of Sains-les-Marquion, according to advices from the battle front today.

Farther south along the canal, they are reported to have captured Inchy-en-Ortois, Demicourt, to the east of Doignies, and Fermies, three miles northeast of Bertincourt.

Near the Somme, the British, advices state, have crossed the canal at Haut Allaines, slightly more than two miles north of Peronne.

From Fermie, southward, the British line is indicated as running to the west of Ruyaulcourt, a mile and a half east of Bertincourt.

Midway between Nieppe and Sailly, in the Lys salient, the British have captured the village of Croix du Bac.

Since the opening of the combined Franco-British operations, August 8, no less than ninety-seven German divisions have been engaged on the battle front.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Progress of tremendous battle-front events is being followed with intense eagerness by the whole British nation. The most significant feature Tuesday was that the expected German attempt to restore the broken Wotan line did not materialize. Failure of the enemy to make such an attempt at [illegible] was taken to indicate the speed and energy with which Field Marshal Haig's armies advanced. Informed observers, however, continue to speculate on when and where the enemy will pull himself together.

Disastrous as the blow already has been to German prestige and seriously as the German position is endangered, experts here are not expressing anticipation of an early debacle and admit the probability of some defenses being organized behind the enemy lines in an attempt to check the Allied advance.

Some German prisoners taken in the battle talk confidently of the impending arrival of a great reserve army under Gen. Von Mackensen, who will turn the tables on the Allied forces.

The clearing of machine-gun nests around Terny-Sorny is being continued by the Americans despite the stubborn opposition of German patrols, says the Daily Mail's correspondent at headquarters of the American army in France. He says:

"The Americans finally gained the ascendancy and consolidated their positions near Terny-Sorny. Gen. Mangin two days ago visited the American general commanding this unit and expressed complete satisfaction over its achievement, pointing out how important the sector northward from Soissons is and how the Germans had brought fresh troops forward to hold the positions. The Americans were pleased with praise from such a source and on their part they say that the French cavalry and tanks greatly aided their success."

WESTERN MUNITIONS FACTORY PLANS TO TREBLE PRESENT PRODUCTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—More than a million and a half cartridges for United States rifles, machine guns and pistols are being turned out every day by one munitions factory in a Central Western State. The information is conveyed in a letter from Capt. George H. Trautman of the ordnance department, stationed at the plant. The captain adds:

"We are preparing to treble our amount. Some of you may not be aware that the same kind of cartridges used in the United States Army rifle is used in the machine guns and aircraft machine guns."

SEES NO RESIDENCE BUILDING BAN HERE.

John J. Backus, chief building inspector for the city, made the statement yesterday that it is his belief the government will not prohibit the construction of buildings intended for residences during the period of the war. He says he thinks the restriction in regard to building will be largely confined to the erection of office buildings.

No official ruling has been made along this line, but Mr. Backus says he expects one in the near future. "It is reasonable to suppose," he adds, "that the government expects us to be comfortably housed and that it will permit us to put up residences if we use carpenters who are outside the draft ages."

Pursue Foe Relentlessly Regardless of Sleep.

Desert of Horror Left in Wake of Fighting Armies.

Events Reveal Fatal Weakness in German Forces.

BY PHILIP GIBBS.

[ATLANTIC CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY, Sept. 3.—(Delayed.) Our troops are not in any mood to make things easy for the Germans and are exerting their utmost strength of body and spirit, not heeding the need of sleep or rest, to keep them on the move. The German command had scraped up every unit of every division which still gave promise of fighting quality in order to counter-attack us with ferocity and gain back their Hindenburg line. Ten divisions were identified against us in the region of Cagnicourt and Dury and we took prisoners of every company of every regiment.

Yesterday I saw them streaming without escort over the battlefield beaten and glad of capture and today again I have seen many more trudging down our tracks of last night's progress, but until last evening it seemed likely these Germans would show some kind of strength and come back at us to retrieve their lost losses. That did not happen.

What did happen was the steady forward movement of our men all through the darkness of last night, all through the rainstorms until the light of dawn came and they moved faster still to make more gains. Everywhere the enemy yielded before them, and in some places from Queant the key position of all his line, he crept away in advance of our men without a show of fighting.

The Canadians and English held the line last evening east of Eterpigny Wood, southeastward to Dury and Villers-le-Cagnicourt and thence southward to our side of Inchy. They, too, were expecting counter-attacks and at one time airmen reported the Germans massing in the wood called Aubigny Aubers covered by an aerial escort of nineteen air scouts.

BOMB FOE MASSES.

Some of our flying men tried to break through that formation of airplanes, but only one of our pilots could get past them under the cover of the clouds, and then he bombed the assembling troops so fiercely that they were broken up and never came forward. The night was quiet on the Canadian front and in the morning their troops advanced again to the west of Saubemont, and then onwards two miles farther beyond Inchy and towards that old evil forest of Bourlon Wood, where, last November our men of the Sixty-second Division and others fought in clouds of poison gas and under storms of shells.

The English troops who were working with the Canadians on the left are reported to have taken the village of Etaing last night with sixty prisoners, and this morning their patrols went into Recoust Wood east of there, encountering the enemy rear guards, but not meeting stubborn resistance anywhere, so they went beyond to the high plateau a thousand yards farther. The enemy shelled the village of Recoust as soon as our men were in it, and their fighting line withdrew some distance back, leaving a wide No Man's Land for our men to cross.

It was reported this morning that German troops were debouching in Marquin across the Arras-Cambrai road not far from their rear guard and our guns found this place for their target. Meanwhile to the west Lancashires, naval brigades and lowland Scots in the Seventeenth Corps below the Canadians were advancing steadily.

Behind our present front, which is moving forward so quickly, there is for many miles a stricken wilderness. Beyond Neuville Vitasse and Berry and Croisilles there is nothing but a landscape of bare monotony rising and falling slightly from one slope to another without high roads cutting across it, without a river or a valley to break its lines, without even ruins more than rubbish heaps of brick, which were once hamlets.

INFERNAL DESOLATION.

Trenches marked by hummocks of white chalk sigzag over this infernal desolation, where tangles of barbed wire are all rusted to the color of withered bracken. Piles of abandoned shells gleaming wet in rain, thousands of German stick bombs, gas masks, helmets, boots, rifles, spattered gun limbers, lorries slashed to pieces by explosives, huts broken to matchwood are flung about the tumbledown dugouts, deserted gun pits, overturned block houses, dead horses and deep shell pits.

Through this pandemonium the mile after mile after mile of the Germans spread out and went down the slopes to the valley on the east side of Queant and Pronville, closer to them than had been intended at first, but achieving the same results. All the Germans fled from Queant before their arrival, panic-stricken at the knowledge we were behind their lines and bearing down on them. A small garrison of seventy men was still holding out in Pronville, and these surrendered to a man when they found themselves surrounded.

Later this morning the naval brigades advanced again below Inchy towards the Bapaume-Cambrai road. If they are successful in cutting this artery of German retreat it is almost certain they will hamper the movement of the German forces in the sharp retreat farther south and that they will prevent the withdrawal of heavy troops of the enemy. He has succeeded in getting away most of his guns, but has been forced to blow up some of his howitzers, which are now behind our lines with their crews as prisoners.

The work of our own gunners in getting forward to keep pace as far as possible with the infantry advance has been very fine. Some of our sixty-pounders which are heavy and slow-going weapons, were already so far forward by noon today they opened a rapid fire on the cross roads outside of Cambrai, so this highway must have been a terror to the crowded German transports struggling back in their retreat.

WEAKNESS REVEALED.

Looking today at several thousand prisoners in one camp not far from Arras belonging to ten different divisions one might well wonder whether at last one might be justified in believing the German army was beginning to crack, only just beginning and not near the breaking point yet, but the events of the last day and night reveal a greater weakness in our enemy than most of us had dared to hope for or believe. In the north they are still drawing back in Flanders and on the other side of Peronne the Australians are gaining much of our old ground. Whole German armies on both fronts are being forced into retreat and how they will camouflage all this under the eyes of their own people or explain what cannot be explained away is an interesting problem.

Our men are full of hope and eagerness to make an end of the whole business; to strike so hard and so fast that the enemy will have no time to recover. To end the year with peace is what inspires the hearts of our men and for that reason they will fight with their spirit keyed to the highest.

ALLIES NEARING WINNING POST.

On Last Lap by Superb Efforts, is French Semiofficial Statement.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON (via Montreal) Sept. 4.—Paris newspapers today print the following semi-official statement:

"The hour seems close at hand when the superb efforts of the Allies will begin to bear fruit,' one of our great chiefs said yesterday. 'We are on the last lap and close to the winning post.'"

WAR BULLETIN.

day made big gains northeast of Noyon, according to the War Office announcement tonight. The greatest gains were made north of the Vesle, which has been crossed on a front of nearly twenty miles.

French troops yesterday and last night continued to push back the Germans to the east of the Canal du Nord and between the Aillette and the Aisne, says today's announcement.

In their advance the French took the Chapitre Wood, northeast of Chevilly, and approached the town of Crisolles, three miles north of Noyon. North of the Aillette the French reached the outskirts of Coucy-le-Chateau and Juvencourt and south of the river they drove further east from Leuilly and attained the suburbs of Clamecy and Braye. On the Aisne the town of Bucy-le-Long was penetrated. Prisoners to the number of 1500 were taken.

BERLIN (via London) Sept. 4.—British troops operating in the Lys salient yesterday worked their way forward as far as the line of Wulverghem, Nieppe, Bac St. Maur, Laventre and Richebourg-St. Vaast, according to the statement issued by the German General Staff. On both sides of Noyon French troops carried out strong attacks which were especially directed against the high ground between Campagne and Buissy. Between the Aillette and the Aisne rivers the French, in co-operation with Americans and Italians, launched renewed attacks after the strongest fire preparation. They were repulsed in many instances after bitter hand-to-hand fighting.

ROME, Sept. 4.—Austrian troops yesterday attacked the Italian line north of the Noce Valley, to the south of Mantello. The attack, which was delivered in some force, is reported today by the War Office to have been checked with heavy losses to the enemy. The Austrian gain appears to have been confined to the occupation of two observation posts.

War Mothers Given Gold Stars.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Fifty San Francisco mothers who have lost their sons in the war received gold service stars presented by Mayor Rolph on behalf of the city at public ceremonial held in the municipal auditorium here tonight in observance of "Heroes' Mothers' Day."

Judge Lott, Pioneer, is Dead.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OROVILLE, Sept. 4.—Judge C. F. Lott, 94, pioneer resident of this section and former Grand Commander of the Masonic Order in California, died here today. Judge Lott was a business assistant of President Lincoln and came to California with the first party of pioneers to travel on the old Lassen trail.

ONE ANGELENO KILLED, ANOTHER IS WOUNDED

Chris S. Villalovox, a Los Angeles man with Co. E, One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Infantry, has been killed in action, according to a telegram received by his mother, who lives at No. 1347 Staunton avenue. Villalovox was 23 years old. He worked for a heater company here before his enlistment.

Corp. De Barth Steele, a Southern Pacific fireman before he was drafted last September, was wounded in action in France August 6, according to a telegram received by his brother, Miss Rae Steele of 211 [illegible] yesterday. Steele is 22 years old. He is a corporal in the company commanded by Capt. Ross [illegible], son of ex-Mayor Snyder.

ACCIDENT PRECEDES DEATH IN AIR FALL

Lieut. Edward J. Smyth of Pasadena, whose name appears in the casualty list this morning, was killed in an airplane accident. Just three months before he fractured a propeller blade in a mishap while training at Tours, where the machine got out of his control. The fatal accident occurred August 16, when he had been in the air service but a short time.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Smyth of No. 1275 North Raymond avenue. He has a younger brother, Harold P. Smyth, and a sister, Mrs. Edward Milliken, who live at No. 1500 North Chester avenue. Lieut. Smyth was 22 years old.

BRITISH TROOPS DOING WONDERS

Victories Won by Men of United Kingdom.

Enemy on Run is Pleased Gen. Maurice.

Going Now on Down Grade Without Brakes.

[BY MAJ.-GEN. SIR FREDERICK MAURICE.

[SPECIAL CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A few days ago in writing of the impression of the recovery of the British after being battering in the spring drives on me during my recent visit to France. Everyone can now see that what I said I was in no way overstating that recovery. Our troops have accomplished in the last few days is one of the most remarkable performances in the course of the war and eclipses the recovery of the "Old Contemptibles" from the retreat from Mons. Recent dispatches Philip Gibbs giving fullest credit to the magnificent work of the Canadian and Australian troops, than which nothing could be finer, very properly wish to not to overlook what the Irish, Scottish and Welsh divisions have done.

I would add the Irish divisions to the list and be sure they will be proud of Irishmen!

The troops from Great Britain bore the brunt of the desperate fighting in the spring fell and my heart to see them now retrieving their own with interest and sweeping over ground which they won in this war has been held by British soldiers.

The picture of the fortress of Bapaume by Sir Charles Ferguson's troops—composed of English and Scottish—at the end of the naval division is one of the great features of the war. Sir Douglas Haig inflicted a definite defeat on the enemy at Bapaume and had followed it promptly by winning a victory south of the town. These have been won by a force which is however the chief feature of the battle was the transfer of a Canadian corps from the Somme to Flanders. The Canadians who appeared at the capture of Monchy [illegible] were, I take it, but an advance guard and the full effect of the movement has now been seen in the capture of the Drocourt line. This line won by hard fighting [illegible] possible that our own losses should have remained as comparatively low as they were and I do not that there is any reason to believe them to be excessive when there have been more than compensated for by the results obtained. Therefore we must look beyond the battlefield. A week ago when I was in France no one expected to see Hazebrouck, Neuve Eglise [illegible] and Estaires without which would have cost us thousands of casualties. The enemy has been forced to retire from all these places and has suffered a considerable readjustment of his front in Flanders, which is further because of his heavy losses further south and because he has had to send troops to meet Haig's drive toward Douai and Cambrai. The gains in Flanders must be added to our gains in Picardy when we are balancing accounts of the last battle, nor must it be forgotten that our victories have freed the French coal fields, which had to close down in consequence of the German advance into Flanders last April. This is a matter which touches us all very closely, for it means that all which France has been forced to make on us for coal will before many months are past be reduced and Sir Guy Calthrop will be relieved of some of his anxieties.

Furthermore, the Arras-Albert-Amiens railway is again in our hands and there is an excellent prospect that before very long and for the first time in the war, we shall be able to use the extension of that railway through Lens to Bethune. This will give us a great increase in the maneuvering power and France very improved facilities for her coal supply. The breach which we thus made in the Wotan line, otherwise known as the Drocourt switch, is one more proof of the truth of what I was saying last week. The barrier in the west has ceased to be impenetrable.

NO IMPREGNABLE LINE.

No line can now stop the attack by our tanks backed by a short but very intense bombardment, and above all by our men, provided we keep the battalions up to strength and give them ample opportunities for training. But we must not expect miracles; there is a sound old military maxim, "Hope for the best and prepare for the worst." The one fatal course is to hope for the best and to do nothing.

I cannot be accused of underestimating our prospects in the past. As far back as August 11 I said it was legitimate to hope that the effect of Haig's victory of August 8 would be to cause the enemy to fall back over the Somme at Peronne and to readjust his front north of that river. That forecast was based not so much on the effect of the gain of ground which had been made but on the effect of losses which had been inflicted on the enemy. Since August these losses have been increasingly heavy and his need for shortening his front grows greater. We may therefore hope to see the enemy still farther east before long, but that does not mean that complete victory is yet in sight, for he can and is shortening his front, while our men have had a hard year and cannot go on fighting hard much longer unless they are kept up to full strength.

Now that the enemy is in danger is the time to keep up pressure on him, and therefore there is greater need than ever for every economy which we can practice and every effort we can make to release men for the front. The enemy is on the down grade and we have just been told he has had to break up eight divisions and to appeal to depressed Austria for help. That process of breaking up divisions must continue and will be hastened as a consequence of Haig's last victory, but it does not mean that the enemy is exhausted.

Without Austrian help he has 196 divisions which is about what we Allies have. It is true the average strength of our divisions is greater, particularly that of the American divisions, but the difference in strength is not yet sufficient to enable Foch to strike the coup de grace. Foch is not yet by any means at the end of his resources and it is legitimate to hope for still better things this year, but the way to make certain of them is to allow no slackening in our efforts. The worst we have now to prepare for is the postponement of complete victory, but it certainly will be postponed if we are satisfied with extravagant predictions of success and do not back the glorious deeds of our men in the field to the very limit of our powers.

FOE IN FLANDERS BACKS FOR RIDGE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The tactics of the Germans in Flanders where the line moved slightly forward again today, leads to the belief that the enemy intends ultimately to retire to the line held in 1917.

This is east of the Paschaendale Ridge, where it is reasonable to assume the enemy will at least fight a strong rear-guard action.

in the Soissons-Rheims sector. Military experts long predicted this would be necessitated by the Allied successes.

CLIMAX ON VESLE.

The climax to the German maneuvers along the Vesle culminated when the French swept away the portion of the old salient in the region of Noyon and the French and Americans north of Soissons and along the Vesle reached positions dominating the Aisne and the Chemin des Dames and crossed to the north side of the Vesle on a front of nearly twenty miles.

All behind the front toward the Aisne huge fires are to be seen where the enemy is making his way as fast as possible northward, in all probability harassed by outposts of French and American troops and by artillery fire and the machine guns and bombs of the Allied aviators.

While the debacle in the south seems complete, in the north the Germans also are facing a crisis. Everywhere from Peronne to Ypres, Field Marshal Haig's men are keeping hard after the enemy, whose line daily is being bent back further eastward, giving the British better points of vantage from which to work in their task of regaining as their first objectives St. Quentin, Cambrai, Lille and Armentieres. From Ypres to Lens additional towns have been recaptured and the old salient more nearly reclaimed.

LENS EVACUATED.

Lens, the famous coal city, is said to have been entirely evacuated by the Germans, and the British are only awaiting the dissipation of the noxious gases and the rendering of the city safe from the possibility of the detonation of mines in the subterannean coal chambers to enter it.

From Arras southward to Peronne, English, Scotch, Welsh, Canadian and Australian troops everywhere are harassing the enemy, meeting his violent machine-gun fire with such irresistible pressure that the enemy has been virtually nonplussed and has retired, at some points, almost precipitately.

Eastward of the old Drocourt-Quesant line the enemy has been pushed across to the east bank of the Canal du Nord, where at last accounts he was endeavoring to prevent the British advance by machine-gun fire.

To the north of Peronne, over an eight-mile front between Moislains and Demicourt the British at several points have beaten their way across the canal and Wednesday night were pressing the enemy well to the eastward.

The British have driven home their push through the Wotan line as far as the Canal du Nord and as yet their progress is not reported checked.

Already the wedge they have driven into the German defenses in the sector between the railway centers of Douai and Cambrai is a menacing one to the enemy, who must stop the British on the canal line here if he hopes to save these bases—vital points in the German defensive system in the west.

The main force of the British push seems to be in the direction of Cambrai along both the Bapaume-Cambrai and Arras-Cambrai roads and in the terrain lying between these highways. In this area they are reported to have captured the towns of Inchy-en-Artois and Moeuvres. This represents an advance of between three and a half and four miles beyond the southern section of the famous "switch line" at Quesant.

CLOSE TO CAMBRAI.

The menace to both Cambrai and Douai may be indicated by the fact that the British are within five and a half miles of the outskirts of the former city and not more than six miles distant from Douai. At Inchy-en-Artois they are a little more than two miles from the Bourlon Wood position where Gen. Byng was temporarily anchored in his drive at Cambrai last fall, marking what was virtually his nearest approach to the city.

In Byng's drive, however, the British approached Cambrai on only a narrow front, whence a German counter-attack on the flank ousted them disastrously, whereas at present the advance is on a far wider front and offering no apparent object for an effective counter blow, especially in the present reported state of German disorganization, from the constant pounding the enemy armies have received all along the front from Rheims to Arras since mid-July.

To the north the Germans are still in retreat and the British have occupied additional towns in the Lys salient.

On the French front Gen. Mangin's army has made important progress in the direction of the forest of St. Gobain, which defends Laon. His forces have reached the edge of the important town of Coucy-le-Chateau and have pushed farther eastward in their flanking movement to the north of Soissons. While the western front battle is in full swing, with the Germans hard pressed, news comes of an attack by forces of the Central Powers on the center of the Allied line along the Vardar River in Macedonia. This move may be an attempted diversion on the part of the Central Empires, as its development would threaten the Allied base at Saloniki and the territory of Greece. The attack does not appear to have had important results, however.

NAVY BROADENS WAR ACTIVITIES

Begins Seaplane Operations on Irish Coast.

Convoying of Troopships is Enormous Task.

Many British Vessels Carry Our Soldiers Only.

BY CHARLES H. GRASTY.

[ATLANTIC CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—With the constantly growing resources in men and material of the American navy in European waters there is a corresponding expansion of American activities in the prosecution of work that falls to the ships and men of our navy. All the details of this expansion necessarily cannot yet be made public as the knowledge would be most useful to the enemy, but it is permissible to mention that the United States Navy has now begun seaplane operations of its own from the Irish bases. This is in addition to the work being done by American aviators connected with the British bases on the east coasts of Great Britain.

Working from one of these latter bases Ensign Schiefflin of New York has just been highly commended by the British Admiralty for promptitude and resources in the detection of the subsequent damage to a German submarine. Some idea of the character and the amount of work done by American naval vessels in European waters in protecting ships and men against submarines is obtainable from the following record of what has been done by vessels attached to one particular American base during the second quarter of the current year.

During April, May and June from this one base American destroyers escorted 121 troop convoys numbering in all 773 troopships and in the same period escorted 171 merchant convoys of 1763 ships. During July and August when the phenomenal records in the transport of American troops were being made the destroyers had at least the quality of a busy time.

Figures of the transport of troops from America to Europe during August fell below the previous highest record, but they were well over the 250,000 mark. An average of 2000 letters a day are received at naval headquarters over here for distribution throughout the American warships. Incidentally some 90 per cent. of these have to be readdressed.

In the period mentioned the American navy did only 27 per cent. of the convoying, the bulk of the rest being done by British ships.

There are at present 155 ships flying the British flag carrying American troops exclusively. In August more than 250,000 American soldiers arrived in Europe. Of this number the American navy convoyed 34 per cent.; the British navy, 65 per cent., and the French navy, 1 per cent.

VALUATION HOLDS UP OIL LAND LEASE BILL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Senate and House conferees on the oil leasing bill failed again today to settle their differences.

Practically the entire session was devoted to objections to a House provision authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to make a valuation of oil and gas lands for the purpose of determining the amount of royalty to be paid by the prospector.

Hudson Enlists With Uncle Sam

No Sacrifice Is Too Great To Help Win the War

WEDNESDAY, August 28th, 1918, the Board of Directors of the Hudson Motor Car Company adopted the following resolution:

"Be it resolved that it is our plan to produce only those automobiles during the period of the war as are necessary to clear out the stock on hand and contracted for, which we estimate will be accomplished not later than January 1, 1919, and that thereafter our plant, resources and our entire manufacturing energy are to be devoted to war work."

Hudson had hoped that such a radical step would not be necessary.

We had thought that by turning over part of our plant to war work—the percentage of which has been gradually increasing for a year past—we could meet the government's needs and still partially supply the demand for Super-Sixes.

However, in view of the increasing war needs, we feel it our patriotic duty to apply our plant resources, and our entire manufacturing energy to war work.

We especially regret the sacrifices necessary on the part of our loyal Hudson dealers who have invested heavily in Sales and Service Plants.

After all, however, your sacrifice as a buyer, or yours as a dealer, or ours as the manufacturer is trifling compared with the sacrifice that millions of magnificent young Americans are making for us.

They are pouring out joyously the last full measure of devotion for Liberty—for Humanity—for us.

No price, therefore, can be too great for us to pay for freedom, honor, and the defense of our country.

It is our privilege to answer willingly—gladly, every demand the nation makes of us.

In this spirit Hudson enlists for the war.

Not later than and probably long before January 1st, 1919, the last Super-Six made during the war will be out of our dealers' hands.

There are several Hudson advertisements prepared and placed in the magazines prior to this decision.

Their message still holds good so far as it relates to the few Super-Sixes still to be made. Otherwise it is subject to the resolution quoted above.

□ □ □ □ □ □ □ □ □

AND now, in conclusion, just a word of appreciation and congratulation to you who are fortunate enough to possess Super-Sixes.

We appreciate the loyal support Hudson owners have given every effort we have made to produce cars of quality.

We congratulate you who own Hudsons on having a car that will see you through the uncertain days ahead.

Its service we know will be such as to keep the Hudson name shining brightly in your mind reminding you that the Hudson has not departed forever, but is simply in the service of the country.

The Hudson factory and Hudson dealers now have on hand a sufficient supply of replacement parts to meet all needs over a prolonged period of time.

And when the happier days of peace come—after the war is won—you may look forward to more Super-Sixes just as worthy of your confidence as they have been up to the present.

HIS WORK IS A PLEASURE NOW

Pattern Maker Tells of Improvement.

Had Been Feeling Bad for Five Years.

Says Tanlac Did More Good Than He Expected.

The best evidence of the merits of a medicine is what people who have actually taken it have to say about it. And this is especially true and beyond all question when such statements are made by people of high character and published right in the community where each and every fact can be investigated and verified. W. M. Alexander, the pattern-maker, whose shops are located at 618 North Main street, in a recent statement regarding the benefits he has derived from the use of Tanlac, said:

"I have been under the weather and feeling all worn out for the past five years. My nerves were all out of fix, I had no ambition or energy and couldn't take proper interest in my work. In fact, I never felt like going down to my place of business, and when I got there I couldn't take hold of my work with that push and vigor that I should. I wasn't sick exactly, but felt tired, depressed and nervous and was gradually losing ground all the time.

"I had reached the point where I felt that something must be done, if possible, to get me back to my old self. So, when I saw that Tanlac was helping so many others I decided to try it. Well, my first bottle helped me so much that I got another and my improvement has been so great already that I feel like I ought to make a statement and let others who need Tanlac know how it has helped me. I am relieved almost entirely of that tired, depressed feeling now, my nerves are better and I have so much more strength and energy that it's a pleasure to do my work. My appetite has improved until I have a hard time eating enough to satisfy me. I also notice that the catarrhal condition, from which I have been suffering for a long time, is getting better and, so, I have been benefited even more than I expected. I have recommended Tanlac to several of my friends and they all report fine results, too, and I am glad to pass the good news around for the benefit of others."

A dull, dragging feeling of the body, a sluggish mind, dull memory, despondence, depression of spirits, nervousness, stomach trouble, weak back, headaches and bowel troubles are among the various symptoms of the condition from which a surprisingly large number of people suffer. They simply need something to tone up their systems and to assist the vital organs in performing their proper functions. Tanlac is a powerful reconstructive tonic and always produces most gratifying results.

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by The Owl Drug Co., under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—[Advertisement.

Weather Likely to Hold Up World Series Opener Again

World Series.

TOUGH LUCK FOR RED SOX.

Second Sacker Splits Finger of Throwing Hand.

Jack Coffey Probably will Play for Shean.

Rain in Chicago Helps the Hot Stove League.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Prevented by rain from staging the first game of the world's series today, the Chicago Nationals and Boston Red Sox spent the day under cover in preparation for the game tomorrow which, weather permitting, will inaugurate the last struggle for the premier baseball honors to be played during the war.

Fred Mitchell, manager of the Cubs, and Manager Barrow of the Boston club, kept their legions closely segregated today, working out problems of defense and attack preparatory to the opening round of the battle tomorrow.

The only outcropping of news which enlightened an otherwise dismal, gloomy session of the Hot Stove League, lay in the injury to Dave Shean, the Red Sox second baseman, who split the middle finger of his throwing hand during practice, and who, it was said, may not appear in tomorrow's line-up. Jack Coffey was picked to substitute for Shean, with a possibility that Fred Thomas, who is on a furlough from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, might be called into the fray to play third base.

August Herrmann, chairman of the National Baseball Commission, enlivened the hotel gossip with the announcement that he expected the series to net $25,000 for war charities. He said indications were that the total receipts this year would approximate $250,000 to be divided between the players, clubs, leagues and commission, with the split for the runner-up and third and fourth place clubs. Mr. Herrmann based his estimate on the receipts of last year which, in round numbers, totaled $350,000.

"It is possible we may ask the Secretary of War either to donate the fund to some single charity or to distribute it among all recognized war activities," said Herrmann. "It is unlikely that the commission will take upon itself the distribution of the funds."

Possibilities of a Sunday game in Chicago loomed large today. Overcast skies augured ill for tomorrow's scheduled contest and it was announced that in the event of another postponement or a tie game the first contest at Boston eight to be put over until Tuesday and a game staged in Chicago on September 8. The club owners were frankly in favor of this plan.

"Big Jim" Vaughn, the most consistent winner of the Chicago Nationals this season, was a favorite among the mound possibilities for tomorrow. It was admitted that the choice of the Chicago twirlers was between Vaughn and Tyler, both left handers. Vaughn's prestige among the fans was counted to overcome whatever advantage might accrue to Tyler as the result of previous world's series experience.

Boston's choice for mound duty was in doubt. Harry Frazee, president of the club, was authority for the statement that whoever was chosen it would not be "Babe" Ruth, intimating that Ruth's prowess with the bat was considered a highly important factor in the series. It was believed that Manager Barrow would give Mays preference over "Bullet Joe" Bush, preferring to hold the latter under wraps for use in case Mays cracks.

BULL MONTANA IS READY FOR ANYONE.

Bull Montana has responded patriotically and volunteered to wrestle any opponent at the Soldiers' and Sailors' carnival at Exposition Park Monday. Montana is trying to reduce his weight so that he can take a crack at the middleweight title now held by Walter Miller of the L.A.A.C. Montana was going to meet Miller for the title some time ago, but couldn't shed sufficient beef to hit the 158-pound mark required.

A One Word Tragedy.

Note—Doug Fairbanks and Charlie Chaplin oozed out to Vernon the other night and after remarking how easily the youthful mitt-wigglers won large gold medals, decided to try the manly art themselves.

FACTS ABOUT WORLD SERIES.

THIS is the fifteenth modern world's series and the sixth to be held in Chicago.

Three victories is the best record any pitcher has established in a world series.

Umpire William Klem will work in the tenth championship series this year.

Last year the White Sox players each got $3523.13 and the Giants $2543.14 as their division of the gate receipts.

The Boston Red Sox have won seven American League pennants and the Chicago Cubs have captured eleven National League races.

Nine of the Chicago players formerly played with American League teams.

The longest game in a world's series was October 9, 1916, when the Red Sox beat Brooklyn 2 to 1 in fourteen innings, "Babe" Ruth opposing Smith as pitcher.

The greatest aggregate attendance at a world's series was in 1917 when the White Sox-Giants' six games attracted 186,654, the receipts being $426,378.

NOTHING TO IT.

Disquieting rumors to the effect that the Hollywood High football team would be badly shot to pieces this year because of a number of failures in studies last term were denounced in stentorian tones by Coach Fred Johnson, who said that there would be no ineligibles among the veterans as far as he was aware.

Aerial Treat.

OVERSEA AND UNDERSEA TEAMS BATTLE SUND

LOS ANGELES is to have a real aerial treat next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park, when twenty airplanes guided by some of the best air pilots in America, will give an exhibition of aviation maneuvers at the park. Following the exhibition will be a ball game between the famous Submarine Base team of San Pedro, headed by the redoubtable heaver, Howard Ehmke, and the Army-Navy Aviators' nine of North Island.

To exploit this unique aerial entertainment, Capt. Sullivan, in company with nineteen other pilots, will swing his squadron of twenty planes over Los Angeles Saturday morning about 11:30 o'clock. Bombs will be dropped over the entire city and between the detonations thousands of hand bills will be cast from the airplanes, advertising the big doings at Washington Park Sunday afternoon.

The human birds will fly as low as possible over the city, thus increasing the sawmill buzz of their motors at least two fold. These noises should be a bizarre experience for the denizens of Los Angeles and will give them an idea of what the inhabitants of cities across the water undergo when they are attacked by hostile flyers.

The Red Cross has come with a helping hand, in that will have a corps of on the streets Friday afternoon selling tickets for the Washington Park. Movie stars will also help with ow's mite. Julian Eltinge cupy one of the boxes, ber of other film stars be on hand.

HOT FINISHES ON THE GRAND CIRCUIT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HARTFORD (Ct.) Sept. 4.—There was scarcely a heat in today's Grand Circuit racing card at Charter Oak Park, which included the $5000 Battle Royal for 2:06 trotters, that did not end in a hair-raising finish, in nearly every instance the horses being neck and neck when they passed under the wire. The greatest thrills were provided in the 2:04 pace, which Judge Ormond won in straight heats, but finishing under Crosier's lash on each occasion. The lead changed several times during the heats, but Judge Ormond displayed the necessary reserve power on each occasion he was called upon.

The battle royal, won by Ima Jay, owned and driven by Harvey Ernest, was all that the name implied. Cox's Lassie took the first heat with Ima Jay, who cast a shoe, finishing second. The latter went to the stable for repairs and came back to capture the next two heats and the race in impressive style.

The heats of the 2:13 trot were well contested. Bouquita Girl won the opener, but could do no better than fifth in the second while Minnie Arthur, seventh in the first heat, captured the second. The third went to Minnie Arthur in a driving finish, giving her the race.

The 2:04 pace; purse, $1000:
Judge Ormond, Crosier 1 1 1

JUD SMITH BACK WITH DUCK LIMIT.

Jud Smith, who formerly rifled 'em over to first from the vicinity of third base for the Angels, returned yesterday from Hemet with a limit of doves. He doesn't say whether he knocked 'em over with rocks or shot them, but presumably he used a gun. He was accompanied on his expedition by Dr. Munsen and Harry Knight, who report just as good luck as Jud had.

Important modifications are based on the change of a few words in the original draft law made in pass term "industrial occupation" is elim persons may be given deferred classi

In this section, officials pointed cu not engaged in necessary commerci enterprise and necessary work for Red Cross and kindred c organizations.

The regulations will not attempt specifically to define the status o registrants who shall be entitled t exemption, but will allow the board to work out the details after the information has been given them.
It was said that the regulations will straighten out completely confusion arising since district boards in various localities have ruled, un der the old law, that railroads and mines are not industries, and that the importer of necessary war ma terials and his staff are not engaged in industry. Since the requirement that a man exempted because of his occupation must be of such impor tance as to threaten the continu ance of the enterprise to which he is attached has been retained, how ever, the sum total of exemptions is not expected to seriously affect the total man power which will finally be placed in class 1.
District boards in applying occu have the assistance of three advisers, is utterly unlike any other prepared cereal.

Take a handful of its golden-brown granules and hold it in a strong light. You will see little shining particles on each granule—a result of the Grape-Nuts process of cookery, which turns the starch of wheat and barley into actual sugar.

The sweet, nutty flavor of Grape-Nuts requires no added sugar and where fresh milk or cream is not obtainable condensed or evaporated milk fits in finely.

No sugar is needed, and but little cream or milk, and this makes Grape-Nuts a very desirable cereal these saving days.

GERMAN-OWNED SHIP LINE SEIZED BY GOVERNMENT.

Agent of Trans-Atlantic Company Deceives Authorities Three Years.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—On the ground of German ownership, the American Trans-Atlantic Company, which, until its ships were requisitioned by the Shipping Board last October, operated a fleet of seven steamships flying the Stars and Stripes, has been taken over by the alien property custodian.

Richard G. Wagner, the American head of the concern, for years deceived the American government with truly Prussian artifice, according to Francis H. Garvan, investigator for the custodian. Mr. Garvan said Wagner declared British and French prize courts for three years as to the real ownership of the property.

Mr. Garvan, who made public a history of Wagner's activities, said that when the company was organized eight months after the outbreak of hostilities with funds which Capt. von Bernstorff caused to be transferred here for Wagner's benefit, Wagner finally confessed that his venture to keep German commerce on the high seas was backed by German interests.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED.

Suspicions were entertained by the government from the time that Wagner sought to have his eleven ships, flying neutral flags, transferred to American registry. When the ships were commandeered, the Navy Department refused to deliver to the commanders naval secrets because they were not American citizens. The company declined to remove the commanders, and the Navy Department placed a naval officer aboard each ship, from whom the alien skipper received his sailing directions.

Wagner's ships were reported at various times to have been supplying German raiders with provisions and to have convoyed German gold from the United States for use in South America, but these charges Wagner indignantly denied, always protesting his Americanism.

Three of Wagner's ships were seized by the British and one by the French during 1915, and in the prize courts testimony indicating German backing for the American Trans-Atlantic Company was aired.

GERMAN PROPAGANDA.

"These seizures," said Mr. Garvan, "were made the basis of a master effort of Bernstorff's German propagandists in the United States. Resort was had to every device to arouse hatred and ill feeling in this country against Great Britain. Under the direction of Von Bernstorff, the agitation assumed nation-wide proportions." Wagner insisted the ships were purchased with American money, and claimed that the American investors in the company were "entitled to protection, and left nothing undone to take advantage of this agitation against the British."

RECRUITING STATIONS ARE ORDERED CLOSED.

CROWDER BANS VOLUNTARY ENLISTMENTS EXCEPT MEN OVER 46 AND UNDER 56.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The volunteer system of recruiting men for the army received its death blow today when orders were issued by Gen. March, Chief of Staff, to close up all recruiting stations in the United States.

"The only original voluntary enlistments hereafter authorized," Gen. March said, "will be of men over 46 and under 56 years of age. The enlistments of these men is authorized only for staff corps and departments. There are few applications from among this class and the enlistment of such as are found qualified can be effected at mobilization posts or encampments throughout the country."

Hereafter the only way men between 18 and 45 will be taken into the army is through the selective draft.

Enlisted men engaged in recruiting duty have been ordered to the nearest recruit depot, where they are to be physically examined and their qualification records made out.

The six recruit depots—Fort Slocum, N. Y.; Columbus Barracks, O.; Fort Thomas, Ky.; Jefferson Barracks, Mo.; Fort Logan, Colo., and Fort McDowell, Cal.—are to be utilized during the continuance of the war as mobilization places for drafted men, whence these men will be distributed to organizations.

Men of all classes who registered on August 24, or who will register under the new law applying to all men between the ages of 18 and 45, may, if qualified, be inducted into the tank corps of the United States Army without waiting to be drafted. This ruling was announced today by Col. Welborn, director of tanks.

Good mechanics, including gas-engine men, welders, blacksmiths, wireless and buzz operators, unskilled men of good education and cooks are eligible, and for the men accepted for service promotion will be rapid.

URGE LAW TO ABOLISH SENSATIONAL PICTURES.

NATIONAL EXHIBITORS SEEK LEGISLATIVE PROTECTION FOR LEGITIMATE FILMS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A rigorous Federal law governing the production and exhibition of motion pictures to protect legitimate exhibitors and producers against sensational and morbid pictures was advocated today by members of the American Exhibitors' Association at their second annual meeting. Legislation which would be equitable to all alike in the industry was also advocated.

During the session the amalgamation of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America with the American Exhibitors' Association was announced. The name of the combined organization will be the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, Exhibitors' Branch. Peter J. Schaefer will be retained as president.

SHIPBUILDING RECORD BROKEN

Sixty-six Vessels Turned Out by Yards in August.

Forty-four of Steel, Others Wood or Composite.

Nearly Two Billion Tons is Production in Year.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Delivery of merchant ships by American shipyards in August exceeded all previous records for this country, Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board was advised today by Charles M. Schwab, Director-General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. Sixty-six ships, aggregating 340,145 dead weight tons, were turned out.

Forty-four of the ships of an aggregate dead weight tonnage of 260,645 were steel and the remaining twenty-two were wood or composite.

For the twelve months ending with August, the total output was 1,787,730 gross tons. Before the European war the largest production in the United States was 614,216 gross tons for the year ending June 30, 1908.

Altogether 1187 ships have been built in 1918, but 777 of them were inland craft. Two hundred and fifty-seven of the seagoing vessels were of steel of an aggregate of 1,052,382 gross tons, and 153, of 274,297 tons were of wood.

MERCHANT SHIPS.

The month's output of merchant ships, including those built for foreign owners, was 295,849 gross tons. This included eighty-eight seagoing vessels of 282,099 gross tons. Forty-nine of those were of steel with a tonnage of 191,103 and thirty-nine were of wood of 91,997 tons.

PERSHING'S MEN TO STRIKE NEXT

come by the British and the swift advance of the French troops last week, when they gained five or six miles on a twenty-five mile front in a single day, was due largely to withdrawal forced upon the enemy in the north.

Gen. March pointed out as indicating the rapidity with which the battle front is shifting under the steady drive of all the armies, the British had pressed ahead fourteen miles since they launched their attack on last August 21.

Even as Gen. March talked, word came from the battle front that the enemy had been hurled still further back along the Douai-Cambrai line and indicating the British early today stood within five miles of this Cambrai pivot to this German defense position.

TROOPS IN FLANDERS.

The Chief of Staff identified the American unit which participated in the Flanders advance as the Thirtieth Division, composed of troops from Tennessee, North and South Carolina.

The French advance north of Soissons, resulting in the capture of Terny-Sorny, was participated in by the Thirty-second Division, composed of Michigan and Wisconsin troops, under Maj.-Gen. Haan.

In answer to a question, Gen. March said it was estimated that more than 250,000 had landed in France during August. The record for monthly shipment, he added, was 285,000.

Turning to questions as to the location of various American units, Gen. March said the Thirty-ninth Division, composed of Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana troops, was now in process of landing in France, while the Thirty-sixth Division, composed of Texas and Oklahoma troops, has completed its debarkation.

THIRTY-FIFTH IN VOSGES.

The Thirty-fifth Division, composed of Missouri and Kansas troops, is stationed in the Vosges. The Twenty-seventh Division, composed of New York troops, is still in training with the British in Flanders, and Gen. March said the identification of the Thirtieth Division as the one engaged with the British near Mont Kemmel indicated that the Twenty-seventh had not been involved in that fighting.

The total number of wounded and sick returned to the United States from the One Hundred and Second Infantry Regiment, Gen. March said, was seventy-four, of that number twenty-seven having been sent back during August. The regiment is composed largely of Connecticut troops and reports have been in circulation that its losses had necessitated virtually the withdrawal of the regiment and complete reorganization.

Gen. March did not know who had been assigned by Gen. Pershing to command the Thirtieth Division, which went over under Maj.-Gen. George W. Read, who has since been assigned to command the Fourth Army Corps.

I.W.W. BLAMED IN BOMB BLAST.

The list of dead follows:

WILLIAM H. WHEELER, a mail clerk.

J. B. LADD, a sailor from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, whose home was in Salina, Kan.

E. R. KOLKOW, a postal clerk.

MISS HELEN MICHIKE of Chicago.

ENTRANCE WRECKED.

The explosion wrecked the entrance of the building and shattered every window in the first three floors of two buildings across the street. The courtroom of Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, where ninety-five I.W.W. leaders were given prison sentences a few days ago, is on the sixth floor of the Federal Building.

William D. (Big Bill) Haywood, "uncrowned king" of the I.W.W., was in the building at the time of the explosion. With his lawyer he was planning to seek a writ of error to stay the execution of the twenty-year prison sentence given him.

Haywood plainly felt the building tremble with the detonation of the bomb and heard the glass crack in the dome of the structure and the cries of the injured. He appeared calm and did not leave the deputy marshal's office.

SUSPECT QUESTIONED.

Pete Dailey of St. Paul, who was placed on trial with the other I.W.W. members, but was later released by Judge Landis because of his physical and mental condition, was taken into custody for questioning in connection with the explosion early tonight.

The bomb, which is believed to have consisted of at least three wire-wrapped steel cylinders charged with high explosive, was carried into the Adams-street entrance of the building during one of the most busy periods of the day. Concealed in a suit case and connected with a time fuse, the device was deposited behind a radiator unnoticed by the passing throng. Nearly a hundred persons were in the corridor at the time, at the stamp windows, writing desks and letter registry division.

The explosion came just at 2:10 o'clock. The force of the blast tore the radiator from its fastenings and hurled it twenty feet into the street, where it struck and killed a passing horse, smashed the desks, uprooted great slabs of marble from the walls and ground the woodwork into splinters. Flying debris cut into shreds several war posters and canvas banners stretched across the front of the entrance and filled the streets with plaster, stone and broken glass.

FLYING FRAGMENTS.

Directly across the way every pane of glass in the first three floors of the Commonwealth Edison and Marquette buildings was blown in upon the occupants of offices, stores and restaurants. Many of the injured were cut by these flying fragments. Every person in the corridor where the explosion took place was hurled to the floor, and their cries soon filled the building and halted the first panic-stricken rush of the uninjured to escape from other entrances.

The streets outside were soon roped off by policemen and firemen, and ambulances and requisitioned automobiles began the work of rushing the victims to near-by hospitals. Within half an hour a detail of sailors from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station and a detachment of Home Guards with fixed bayonets took up the task of keeping back the crowds.

Here's Some Real Help for You

WM. FARNUM Endorses the Palmer Plan

THE Motion Picture Directors' Association, comprising one hundred and fifty directors and producers of the highest reputation and integrity, is recognized as the industry's most powerful and influential organization.

Read what Roy Clements, Secretary of this Association, says about the Palmer Plan:

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORS ASSOCIATION

HOTEL ALEXANDRIA LOS ANGELES

September 1st, 1918

Mr Frederick Palmer,
Palmer Photoplay Corp.,
Los Angeles, Cal.

Dear Sir:

Never before during my many years' active experience as director and writer have producers faced such an appalling dearth of suitable original stories for the screen. Many scripts are being submitted to the various studios, but a great majority are returned because they reflect an utter lack of a practical knowledge of scenario construction.

Until you established the Palmer Plan of Photoplay Writing, there had been no really practical means outside the studios of securing this knowledge in such form that it might be readily understood.

As secretary of the national organization of motion picture directors, I have made a searching investigation of the Palmer Plan, and you will no doubt be glad to know that I have found it quite the most beneficial instrument to enter the creative side of the industry in recent years. The universal welcome your Plan has received at the hands of producers, directors and stars merely confirms my opinion of it.

Your Advisory Bureau possesses many exceptional features; it splendidly serves both producers and writers. I would say that it is very essential to the future welfare of the photoplay. Everyone who has tried to write or who intends to write for the screen should by all means secure the Palmer Plan because of the clear manner in which you have explained the essential requirements of the work and the service you are rendering your members.

Very truly yours,
Roy Clements.

Douglas Oil

It makes extra stiff, rich mayonnaise and the most piquant French dressings—this sweet delicately flavored oil made from the heart of corn.

You will like it better than olive oil and it costs very much less.

You can shorten with it, fry with it, season with it. You won't need butter nor any other fat once you try Douglas Oil.

Your dealer has Douglas Oil or can get it for you.

No risk in a trial can—satisfaction guaranteed.

BEAUTY HINTS FOR YOUR HAIR

How to Prevent It From Growing Gray.

There is no occasion for you to look unattractive or prematurely old because of gray, streaked with gray, white or faded hair. Don't let this condition with its look of age rob you of your youthful beauty and the wonderful opportunities which life offers. No matter how gray, prematurely gray, lusterless or faded your hair might be "La Creole" Hair Dressing will revive the color glands of nature—promote a healthy condition of the hair and scalp — and cause all of your gray or faded hair to become evenly dark, soft, lustrous and beautiful. This preparation is not a dye, but an elegant toilet requisite which is easily applied by simply combing or brushing through the hair.

USE
"LA CREOLE" HAIR DRESSING
to prevent your hair from growing gray and to restore a beautiful dark color to gray or faded hair. For sale by the Owl Drug Company's stores and all good drug stores everywhere. Mail orders from out of town customers filled promptly upon receipt of regular price, $1.20. "La Creole" Hair Dressing is sold on a moneyback guarantee.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

For Michigan Folk.

Members of the Michigan Society will meet this evening in Forum Hall, Mercantile place.

For Vermont Folk.

Members of the Vermont Association will meet Thursday evening in The Times Assembly Hall

Goes to Capital.

Anita King McKnight, formerly a picture star, left yesterday for Washington, D. C., motoring to the capital. She will go to France from there, it is understood, where she is to engage in writing and in entertaining the soldiers at the front.

To Rotary Club.

Dean MacCormack of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral will speak on "Americanism" at a meeting of the Rotary Club at noon today at No. 741 South Broadway. Sam L. Kreider will also speak on "Los Angeles and Foreign Trade."

W.C.T.U. Meeting.

Miss Lucy M. Hutton of the Los Angeles central will speak on the "Duties of a Presiding Officer" at the meeting of Young Women's Christian Temperance Union at No. 341 North Broadway tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

For Scenario Writers.

A course in scenario writing, directed by Myron E. Stearns of the editorial staff of the Griffith studio, is to be a feature of the extension work of the University of California. The course will start at 7 o'clock on the night of the 19th inst., and will run for fifteen weeks, with more advanced work to follow in the second semester.

Northwest Improvements.

The Northwest Improvement Association, which at present is fighting vigorously against the reopening of oil wells in its district, will take up that and other subjects at the regular monthly meeting tomorrow evening in the Temple-street school at No. 1310 Temple street. Several prominent speakers will address the meeting.

At British Ambulance.

G. Haydn Jones, tenor, will sing and Mrs. Hector Georgor, a refugee from France, will speak at the British Ambulance tea this afternoon at the Westminster Hotel. May Louise Hand will whistle. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Margaret Ham, Mrs. Reginald Jones and Dr. Willamnie Breden. Fifty passes to the Burbank Theater will be given to the first fifty guests.

Picnic for Gulf States Folk.

Former residents of the five States which border on the Gulf of Mexico will unite in a picnic reunion all day Saturday, September 15, at Sycamore Grove. There will be registers for each county in each State, basket dinners at noon and patriotic programme opening at 2 o'clock. Hot coffee will be supplied. All who have lived in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama or Florida are included in the invitation.

Picnic for New Yorkers.

President A. B. Rosenfield of the New York State Society of Long Beach invites to the annual picnic on Saturday at the Long Beach pier all former residents of the Empire State. Basket dinners will be eaten at noon and hot coffee will be supplied to all who buy the badge. There will be a popular patriotic programme opening at 2 o'clock, patriotic songs and addresses by New York orators.

For Work in Imperial.

The Half Century Association announces that it is ready to send the first unit of men to Imperial Valley to help save the crops there. Five thousand men are needed, it is stated, and registration with the association has been so encouraging that it hopes to furnish all the men required. The register is still open for elderly men who will go to work in the fields in Imperial Valley, and further announcement regarding the situation will be made at the meeting of the association tonight at Normal Hill Center.

Ready to Go.

Inbound and outbound University cars met yesterday morning at the Pacific Electric tracks on Vermont avenue, and stopped to flag across. The conductor of the outbound car gave the highball, and then swung toward the motorman of the other car, straightened his middle-aged care-rounded shoulders, and saluted. Motorman 259, also a man of middle age, responded snappily.

"I'm getting it better," called the conductor.

"You sure are," said the motorman, "and we may as well learn now."

That's the spirit that has the Huns running.

STUDENT ARMY CORPS FOR NORMAL SCHOOL.

Steps will be taken at once to establish a student army training corps at the Los Angeles State Normal School, according to a telegram received yesterday by President Moore from the Adjutant-General's office at Washington. An officer of the army will be detailed to the school, and upon his arrival the organization of the corps will proceed. The school opens September 10. The telegram reads, in part:

"Your institution having satisfied the conditions prescribed in our letter of June 29, upon basis of your figures steps will be taken at once to establish units of the S.A.T.C. in conjunction with neighboring institutions." It also advised that rifles, overcoats and other equipment would be shipped at an early date.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

[The Times invites strong, clear, bright expression of opinion on current subjects, timely, pertinent and popular. Brevity should be kept in sight. Essays eschewed. Religious and personal controversies are tabu. Value is added to such letters by the signing of the writer's true name, which will be either published or withheld at the owner's request. Letters offered for publication should be in "parliamentary" language, and are subject to editorial supervision.]

Stifling Enterprise.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Replying to the comment of Senator Johnson on the resignation of H. L. Carnahan as Commissioner of Corporations, I desire to say the Governor had plenty of cause for his action.

The writer has talked with many business men, bankers, stock brokers, mining engineers, retired capitalists, old soldiers and laboring men, and all with a few exceptions condemn the blue sky law.

Its only counterpart in the history of legislation is the famous primary election law, which, in place of being framed to give expression to the will of the people, seems rather framed to defeat the will of the people. It seems that such a law should be declared unconstitutional on the ground that it is unreasonable, and put out of existence by the courts.

Senator Johnson probably does not know or remember that the gold production has fallen behind about $12,000,000 a year, a large part of which may be due to the drastic manner that the office of Commissioner of Corporations has been administered; he does not recall that the efficiency of the office had become so overefficient and topheavy that men who had contemplated putting money into a manufacturing corporation to promote the industrial life of California died before the top-heavy, efficient office of the Commissioner of Corporations issued a permit to sell stock; he does not remember that even after a corporation had paid a public accountant $500 to audit its records in the manner he desired, he would always find some excuse for delay, and when he could think of nothing else, he would desire the applicant to point out again, by further correspondence, the very matters that were already embraced in the correspondence before him. He does not know that it was common reported, without contradiction, that millions of dollars from the East on deposit here in the banks, sent here for investment in California enterprises, was sent back East because the eastern capitalists were not willing to let the Commissioner of Corporations run their business for them, but persisted in running their business in a manner so that they could make money for themselves and their stockholders; he does not know that by reason of the manner in which the office was conducted by the commissioner and the law itself that California was the laughing stock of the East, and that all eastern capital was timid about getting in his clutches; he does not remember that all local capital and enterprise was timid and afraid of the power of the commissioner, and that nearly all enterprise, under the California law, was impossible, and that all that a California lawyer could advise his client to do, who wanted to start an industrial enterprise here in California, was to incorporate outside of the State and issue all of the stock in the names of individuals outside of the State, and then return to California to carry on his business.

He does not know by costly experience, as the writer does, that if a law were framed with the express purpose of stilling and killing business no better law could have been devised.

CEMENT PLANT DENIAL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COLTON, Sept. 3.—Persistent rumors among employees and others that the plant of the California Portland Cement Company had been taken over by the government are officially denied. Attorney William Guthrie of the company's legal staff was authorized by T. J. Fleming of Los Angeles, general manager, and Ernest Duque, assistant general manager, to issue a denial.

Introducing The New

"Tea-Foil" Package of Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

This new package renders a double service—it saves tin for the U. S. Government's war needs and saves smokers from the discomfort and inconvenience of the old-style tobacco tins.

The "Tea-Foil" Package has many advantages; it is:—

Soft and pliable
Decreases in size as tobacco is used
Tobacco does not cake in this package
No digging it out with the finger
Keeps the tobacco in perfect condition
Costs you less than tin
10c a package

For those who prefer it—Tuxedo is still packed in tins, with slightly more tobacco, at 15 cents.

Try Tuxedo in the new "Tea-Foil" Package today.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Sept. 4.—[Reported by Fred A. Carpenter, Meteorologist.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.98; at 5 p.m., 29.96. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 61 deg. and 73 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 89 per cent.; 5 p.m., 56 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., east, velocity 3 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 10 miles. Highest temperature, 75 deg.; lowest, 61 deg. Rainfall for season, .13 of an inch. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The entire northern portion of the country is under the influence of an area of high pressure, with fair weather and moderate temperature prevailing. The barometer continues relatively low in the Southwest, and some cloudiness prevails in California as a consequence. Another depression is centred over the Middle Mississippi Valley and rain has resulted generally in the Southern States from Arizona to Florida and northward to South Dakota. The southwestern low area will cause some cloudiness in Los Angeles and vicinity in the morning, otherwise fair weather is indicated during the next thirty-six hours.

ORCHARD REPORTS.—Minimum and maximum temperatures reported yesterday to the Los Angeles office of the U. S. Weather Bureau yesterday are as follows:

ACTION ON NATIONAL DRY BILL IS DELAYED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Final action on the bill providing for national prohibition after next July 1 and continuing until the demobilization of American troops has been completed after the war, failed again today in the Senate owing to the introduction of amendments to the $12,000,000 Emergency Agricultural Appropriation Bill to which the prohibition legislation is attached.

Senator Jones of Washington, a prohibition leader, predicted that the House would accept the Senate's prohibition plan, thus precluding the possibility of changes being made in conference. A substantial majority in the House is claimed by prohibition leaders, who also say President Wilson will not object to the legislation.

An amendment providing for the purchase by the government of all distilled spirits held in bond on July 1 was introduced by Senator Bankhead of Alabama. The amendment was not taken up.

A motion to eliminate appropriations for the prevehtion and eradication of insects and plant diseases made by Senator King of Utah, was deferred.

The Senate by unanimous vote attached as a rider to the agricultural bill an amendment designed to prevent rent profiteering in the District of Columbia. It provides for the appointment of a rent administrator to determine upon the fairness of rents now being charged.

WAR DONATION BUREAU FOR Defense Council Selects to Direct Drive.

County Boards to Have Local Soliciting.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Organization of a war donation speakers' bureau to prevent unauthorized and unworthy war campaigns and collections and to stop personal profit in such enterprises was announced by the Council of Defense here today.

The members of the bureau are Jesse H. Steinhart, San Francisco, chairman; William Spreckels, Jr., Rudolph Spreckels, Thomas J. McCarthy, Lyman Pierce, Lawrence Dinkelspiel, Council of Defense, is slated to be one of the most important places in the nation's war organization, according to word received by The Times yesterday from Washington. Mr. Robinson, who has been at the national capital for some time in connection with war activities, has been offered and probably will accept the position of director of extension for the United States Shipping Board, both for the duration of the war and in the after-war campaign to develop foreign markets. Mr. Robinson is understood, will be given a free hand and will report only to Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board. The importance of the appointment to Los Angeles can hardly be overestimated in view of the great possibilities contemplated here to make Los Angeles one of the largest export and import marts of the entire country. While Mr. Robinson as a national official will be wholly interested in his activities as director of extension, the fact that he is familiar with the facilities which this city affords, as well as his sentimental interest, will for the locality in which his own business interests exist, cannot but have a great influence, it is believed.

IMPORTANCE TO CITY.

Therefore, it is pointed out, official business at Washington too often have taken the Pacific Coast as "too far away," failing to realize the wonderful development that this part of the country has undergone and the importance as a starting point for shipping engaged in Far Eastern and South American trade.

With the appointment of Mr. Robinson to Los Angeles and the entire Pacific Coast will benefit, it is believed. September 2 the United Press Association for the purpose of funds covering the increased cost of paper to be known as the United Sailors' News.

"Sending the home town paper to the boys at the front was the object of this association," the council said, "is undoubtedly encouraged, but the possibility of paper to be accomplished by the home town papers" has taken the attitude among the objections that the project would entail constant solicitation of funds from the public.

R. W. Pridham, chairman of the local section of the State Council of Defense, said last night that the organization of a State-wide organization bureau was expected.

"Mr. Jesse H. Steinhart, president of the State Donations bureau, is here recently, and conferred with Mr. Judah, director of the local war donations bureau. The new bureau will have supervision over war donations, I think, and

IMPORTANCE TO CITY.

Therefore, it is pointed out, offi-cials at Washington too often have ignored the Pacific Coast as "too far away" failing to realize the won-derful development that this part of the country has undergone and the importance as a starting point for those engaged in Far East-ern and South American trade.

The appointment of Mr. Robin-son, Los Angeles and the entire West will have a fresh inspira-tion to develop their Mexican, South American and oriental trade, as few have given such support to all the great moves of Southern Cali-fornia has Mr. Robinson. He is ha-bitually interested in the de-velopment of large interests in lum-ber and water on this Coast as demonstrated in his pri-vate enterprises, as well as in his work for the government, a capacity for compre-hensive and constructive activity. Those coming to Southern Californ-ia from Youngstowns, O., fifteen years ago, Mr. Robinson has made residence mostly in Pasadena, his present home there being at No. 1000 Fair Oaks avenue. He maintains law offices in that city.

HAS WIDE INTERESTS.

Mr. Robinson is a director of several important financial institu-tions of the Southland, among them the Union Oil Company, the California Edison Com-pany and the Merchants' National Bank, Los Angeles Trust and Sav-ings Bank and the Mortgage Guarantee Company of this city. He is also treasurer of the Pacific Lum-ber Company, which until the war did a large trade in lumber with Australia.

Because of the assistance Mr. Robinson has given to the United States Shipping Board in helping to speed up its work, Chairman Hur-ley is said to have acquired a great admiration for the Los Angeles cap-italist's effective force and executive ability. The present tendency of the office of director of exports for the board is the result of Mr. Hurley's estimate of the man.

TAKE STRIKERS' PLACE.

Ice Companies Expect to Soon Have Service at Normal, Official of Big Company Says.

Delivery conditions improved somewhat yesterday, according to J. O. Cashin of the National Ice and Cold Storage Company, one of the largest of the firms affected by the icemen's strike. This company had eighteen of its seventy wagons at work, and expects to have more as time goes on, Mr. Cashin stated. Former employees of this and other companies, who have been engaged in other occupations are taking the strikers' places.

The public is securing all the ice it desires from the stations estab-lished throughout the city, Mr. Cashin stated, and even this incon-venience will end, the employers say, as more men are employed. Mean-while Capt. Charles T. Connell, the Federal mediator, is endeavoring to settle the strike by conference with both sides. The employers say they will pay their drivers $125 a month, but that they cannot grant an eight-hour day during the summer rush period, declaring that the drivers now work less than seven hours a day, on the year-around basis.

BIG CATCH BY GOVERNMENT?

Alleged Representative of German Ruler of Luxemburg Arrested Here.

On a complaint issued by Lyndol L. Young, Assistant United States District Attorney, E. C. Fischer was arrested and placed in the County Jail last evening. He was technically charged with having violated the Espionage Act, but an investigation conducted by the office of the District Attorney indicates that he is the personal representative of the German Governor of the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg, and that he has been operating in this country since the beginning of the war in 1914.

In official circles his arrest is considered one of the most important yet made by the local Federal authorities. Sensational developments are expected.

It is asserted that Fischer has been operating through certain religious sects, who are committed to opposition to the war, and that his activities have not only covered Southern California, but contiguous States.

Internment proceedings will at once be instituted against Fischer, and it is probable that more serious charges will be made against him. He will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Long this morning.

LOS ANGELES NURSES ARRIVE IN EUROPE.

TWENTY-THREE LOCAL HOSPITAL GRADUATES IN RED CROSS UNIT.

Word was received here yesterday of the safe arrival in Europe of Unit No. 35 of the Red Cross Nursing Corps, which contains twenty-three Los Angeles young women. They are all graduate nurses of Los Angeles hospitals and left here three months ago, but, like the soldiers they will nurse, a final course of training was given them in this country before they were given their official uniforms and sent overseas.

The unit, which consists of 100 nurses, all from California, is in the charge of Chief Nurse Alice Macfarlane. The following members of the unit were formerly Good Samaritan Hospital nurses: Ethel B. Cutter, Margaret Hartsook, Jane MacAffee, Edna Macfarlane, Lillian Ordiray, Jean Rogerson, Hazel Sass, Grace Williams and Lila W. Beem.

These young women are graduate nurses from the County Hospital: Marie Duforer, Blanche Carpenter, Mayme Hall, Josephine Jacobson, Ruth Lewis, Helen Murray, Bessie Randall, Mary Walters, Ellen Jamfrey, Anna Downey and Mae Donovan.

Mrs. Florence Foster is the only representative from the Children's Hospital, Miss Signa Lindquist from the Pacific Hospital and Miss Elizabeth Atkinson from the Uplands Hospital.

FOR DEATH OF USHER.

Trial of Colored Youths on Manslaughter Charge Continued Until Next Week.

The trial of James Arnold and Parker Conner, both colored and 16 years old, on a charge of manslaughter, was continued yesterday by Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court until next Wednesday, when the final order will be made. The boys are charged with being responsible for the death on August 6 of Emerson Schooler, 15 years, an usher in the Angelus Theater at Eleventh and Central avenue.

The evidence as produced by Deputy District Attorney Hogan yesterday was that Arnold, Conner and Walter Johnson, the latter also colored, entered the theater by a rear door and were told to get out by Schooler. Johnson, 14 years old, is alleged to have said to Schooler:

"You had better not start something; they will swing on you."

"They won't swing on me here; we will go outside," retorted the usher.

The boys left the theater and fought for some time. Schooler finally fell and was found to be dead. The post-mortem showed that he had a bruise under an ear and that his vertebrae was dislocated. Death was caused by suffocation.

Surprise.

WEDLOCK JOINS USEFUL HANDS.

Mrs. Mary Stoddard is Bride of ex-Senator Hurd.

Romance Born of Long Work for Unfortunates Here.

"Mother" of Crittenton Home to Still be Active.

Mrs. Mary E. Stoddard, mother of the local Florence Crittenton Home, and perhaps the foremost figure in child-welfare work in Southern California, last night became the bride of ex-Senator Henry M. Hurd, the attorney who has long been associated with her in her work. The wedding took place quietly at the home of the bride's mother and step-father, Judge and Mrs. Clarke Howard, No. 1443 Winfield street. The officiating pastor was Rev. J. M. Newell, who performed the wedding ceremony for the bride's parents more than fifty years ago in Placerville, who christened Mrs. Stoddard and later officiated at the marriage of her son, F. W. Stoddard. The wedding was a great surprise even to the relatives of the bride and groom as the principals had, until yesterday, told no one of their plans and Mrs. Stoddard was supposed to have been on a vacation for the last two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Hurd left at 8 o'clock last night on a motor honeymoon trip to the north. They will visit the military training camps and other institutions in which they are interested, and, after spending a few weeks at Mrs. Hurd's home in Placerville, where she was born, will return to Los Angeles and make their home at No. 1200 West Sixth street, where they will be at home to friends after October 15.

WORK LONG TOGETHER.

Mr. Hurd is 52 years old and his bride 47. They have been associated in humanitarian work almost since the beginning of their acquaintanceship, eighteen years ago. They state that their joint activities in behalf of unfortunate girls and children will be rather increased than otherwise by this marital pooling of their forces. Both are of Scotch descent.

The wedding last evening was very simple. Mrs. Wilcox Stoddard, a daughter-in-law, and Miss May Inkster, a cousin of Mr. Hurd, attended the bride. The best man was Charles C. Hurd, brother of the groom. There were twenty-four guests. Recently Mrs. Stoddard organized the girls at the Florence Crittenton Home into a Liberty Club, and the members are now busy sewing and knitting articles for the Liberty Fair to be held in Exposition Park in October. At that fair Mrs. Hurd will also have a big baby exhibit from the Crittenton Home. Yesterday the bride sent several gallons of ice cream and a number of wedding cakes to the home and today the girls will celebrate her wedding. The new Mrs. Hurd founded the local Florence Crittenton Home, to establish which she endured unflinchingly the criticism of no end of so-called religious organizations. Finally, with the aid of a few faithful friends, including The Times, she secured permission to build the home, and the money to construct it was donated by Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Johnson.

NOTABLE WORK.

During her residence of more than thirty years in Los Angeles, Mrs. Hurd has been officially connected with many of the leading organizations in this city and in the Southland. She was the first secretary of the California Congress of Mothers and of the Los Angeles Parent-Teacher Association of the Mothers' Congress. For years she was chairman of the Women's Board of Managers of the Florence Crittenton Home and is at present vice-chairman and secretary of that board. She founded the Woman's Training Home and became its president. She was president of the Los Angeles Humane Society for Children and established branches of that Society in Long Beach and Santa Monica. She founded the Octogenarian Club and the Progressive Household Club and presided over both organizations. For years she has been an influential member of the Friday Morning Club, the Musical Matinee Club and the First Congregational Church. She was instrumental in having the Legislature pass the law known as 196A of the Civil Code, which compels fathers to support their children, whether born in or out of legal wedlock.

Mr. Hurd is a Scottish Rite Mason, Past Master of Westlake Masonic Lodge and also Past Grand Patron of the Order of the Eastern Star. He served as State Senator from the Thirty-seventh Senatorial District from 1908 to 1912. Among the bills which he had passed were the Armory Bill and the Normal Buildings Bill for Los Angeles.

Loss.

DEATH'S GREAT DRAFT CALLS FRANK S. HICKS.

FRANK S. HICKS, chairman of draft exemption board No. 10, and for the past thirty-two years prominent in the business and social life of the city, died at 10:30 o'clock last night at Good Samaritan Hospital. He had been long a sufferer from stomach trouble, but death came suddenly, Mr. Hicks being taken to the hospital only Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Hicks was born in St. Louis 57 years ago and came to Los Angeles in 1886. He married here Miss Carrie Childs, daughter of Ozro W. Childs. Mr. Hicks leaves the widow and two daughters, Mrs. George Gross, who is at Panama, where her husband is stationed, as a lieutenant in the navy, and Miss Elizabeth Hicks, 16 years old.

The California Club owes much to Mr. Hicks's interest in that organization, which dates from its earliest history. He served long as its secretary and was at the time of his death secretary of the Los Angeles Country Club. He was a member of the insurance firm of Childs, Hicks & Montgomery, in the Security Building, and made his home at No. 832 West Adams street. This is in the heart of draft district No. 10, and it was in connection with the patriotic work of carrying out the draft in this district that Mr. Hicks had worked long and ably. He was preparing for the forthcoming work of the next draft when he was stricken.

The funeral will probably be held on Saturday, but final arrangements will be announced later.

Federal Grand Jury.

INDICT HULETT MERRITT AS HOARDER OF SUGAR.

HULETT C. MERRITT, the Pasadena millionaire, was indicted by the Federal grand jury yesterday, charged with violating the food conservation law, in that on July 25, last, he had in his possession five 100-pound sacks of sugar. The charge is further made that he has been persistently hoarding sugar from November 1, 1917, to July 25, this year.

Under the law the crime is a felony, and punishable by a fine of not more than $5000, and imprisonment for not more than two years.

United States District Judge Bledsoe fixed the bond at $5000, but it was understood that Mr. Merritt will be in court this morning in company with his attorney. No attempt was made yesterday to place him under arrest. He will be given an opportunity to plead to the indictment today.

It is understood that the accused will put up a vigorous defense, alleging that if the law was violated, as alleged by the government, it was done without his knowledge or consent. It will be a part of the claim in behalf of Mr. Merritt that possibly the sugar was purchased by a butler employed in the family, and that Mr. Merritt knew nothing of its presence in the house until it was found by Deputy United States Marshal Bassett, armed with a Federal warrant of search and seizure.

The case involving the Pasadena millionaire has been under investigation by the office of the United States District Attorney for more than a month, and the indictment followed as a result of the inquiry on the part of Federal officials.

Phil McLaughlin.

LOCAL I.W.W. CHIEF IS AGAIN IN FEDERAL NET.

PHIL M'LAUGHLIN, secretary of the local I.W.W. organization, is again in the Federal net.

He was taken into custody last evening to answer to an indictment just returned by the United States grand jury at Sacramento, charging him and other members of the I.W.W. with responsibility for numerous cases of incendiarism reported in Fresno and adjacent counties. The especial points of attack were stacks of hay and grain, and the result was the destruction of thousands of dollars' worth of these farm products.

On the recommendation of United States District Attorney O'Connor, the bond of McLaughlin was fixed at $10,000, and he was placed in the County Jail.

He was arrested some months ago, with others and confined in the County Jail at Fresno, to answer a charge of violation of the Espionage Act. Pending their trial they were released on bail, and McLaughlin was at liberty on his undertaking yesterday when found by Federal officers.

Other members of the I.W.W. alleged to have been operating with McLaughlin and wanted in Sacramento, are Caesar Tahib, Harry Gray, Elmer Anderson and Frank Elliott. They, with McLaughlin, were in jail at Fresno, but released on bond. They are now back in their old quarters at Fresno, awaiting removal to Sacramento for trial.

Ceylon Puzzle.

TWO WIVES AND FORTUNE FIGURE IN STRANGE SUIT.

WHEN Mohamed Usuff Salie, gem merchant and importer of Ceylon, took Elsie Salie, his white Australian wife, to his home, nineteen years ago, she discovered a Ceylonese woman in the house.

"Dear, this is my wife," said the importer to his bride, indicating the Ceylonese woman.

"Your wife?" gasped the white bride.

"Yes, my wife."

In this way began a strange life. The white wife lived with the Mohammedan wife for two years, and now she is in the divorce court, seeking relief from the matrimonial bonds. Yesterday the case came before Judge Avery in a battle for the custody of the white wife's daughter, Ruby, 5 years old. The court gave her the custody of the child and ordered Salie to pay $100 a month for the support of his wife and the child.

Mixed in the case is the division of the community property, a collection of gems valued by Mrs. Salie at $20,000 and now in a safe deposit box. The court ordered the gems to remain in the box until further order.

The trial of the divorce action will throw some light, it is probable, on the mixed life Mrs. Salie led in the Ceylon household. She remained there with the other wife because there was nothing else for her to do. Each wife has five children. Ruby and one of her brothers, a lithe lad of 16, were in court. The son resembles his father. Ruby has the sprightliness of an American infant.

The Salie family came to San Francisco to exhibit the jewels at the exposition.

"My husband," said Mrs. Salie, with a strong Cockney accent, "lived under a policy of never letting his right hand know what his left hand did. He cautioned me about the Americans. He said: 'They will take the eye right out of your head while you are looking at them, they are so shrewd.'"

Duke Stone, attorney for Salie, told the court that he will show that Mrs. Salie slept with a butcher knife under her pillow. Mrs. Salie charges her husband with striking her.

MARRIED, HAD TO WORK

So Long Beach Woman Gets a Divorce from International Harvester Salesman.

Helen I. Johnson of Long Beach was granted a divorce from Thomas C. Johnson by Judge York yesterday. Mr. Johnson was in the foreign sales department of the International Harvester Company. Notwithstanding this, Mrs. Johnson testified that she was forced to work during her married life.

Her sister, Mrs. Amelia Gilson, told the court Mr. Johnson asked her to assist him financially toward paying his fare back to Chicago. This, however, was after the Johnsons had separated.

SAYS HUSBAND IS A BIGAMIST.

Mrs. Wright Seeks Annulment of Marriage.

Charges He Never Got Divorce from His First Wife.

Fortune and Second Spouse Both Gone, She Declares.

Mrs. Madeline E. Stearns Wright yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court asking that her marriage to Leon Cecil Wright be annulled on the ground that when he married her here on October 26, last, he was, and is now, legally the husband of Mrs. Rose de Lona Wright, whom he married in San Francisco, July 10, 1915. The story of the abrupt ending of the married life of ten months was told yesterday by Howard E. Reach, attorney for Mrs. Wright, in the presence of Mrs. Wright.

Although most of her cash estate, amounting to nearly $40,000, has been gradually swept away in unprofitable business ventures since her marriage to Wright, the wife said yesterday that not until a week ago did she suspect that he had been previously married and not divorced. She thereupon consulted Mr. Reach, who began an investigation. A bigamy charge may follow.

Wright, who was in the fish business this summer at Hermosa Beach, had in the meanwhile gone to Sacramento, where he now is, his wife says. He sent his wife letters asking for $750, and finally a telegram

But None in City.

ALLOW ONE-FIFTH RISE IN INTERURBAN FARES.

INCREASES in suburban passenger rates asked by the Pacific Electric Railway Company were granted yesterday by the State Railroad Commission.

Permission was refused the company, however, to increase its fares within the city of Los Angeles. The company sought to establish a zone system, charging 5 cents in Los Angeles within a zone of five and one-half miles and 7 cents outside the zone.

The new suburban rate asked by the company and granted by the commission will give a return to the road of approximately 3 cents a mile and produce 20 per cent. increase in the gross revenues of the company. The commission's ruling calls for half fares for children over 5 and under 12, for round trip tickets at the rate of one fare and 3½ cents a mile for round trips, and a 20 per cent. increase on commutation tickets.

Passengers who buy round trip tickets will, for example, pay, when the ruling takes effect within a few days, 30 cents for a round trip from Los Angeles to Pasadena, instead of the present rate of 25 cents; 60 cents round trip to the beaches instead of 50 cents; 40 cents to Monrovia instead of 50 cents, and 60 cents to Sierra Madre instead of 50 cents.

The round trip rate to Glendale of 25 cents is unchanged, and in a few instances the new tariffs show a slight decrease. The decision states that the company has failed since its incorporation in 1911 to earn even operating expenses, its total corporate deficit being now $6,000,000.

SINGLE TAXERS TERMED PERIL.

Classed with Socialists and Pacifists by Speaker.

All Three Movements Began in Germany.

Commercial Board Listens to E. P. Clark.

Putting single taxers, Socialists and pacifists all in one class as friends of the enemy, E. P. Clark, in an address yesterday before members of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles, said that all three movements had their inception in Germany.

"The Socialist, the single taxer and the pacifist are they that give aid to the enemy," said Mr. Clark. "You admit that. Hence they are traitors to the cause of winning the war.

"The Socialists are the disciples of Karl Marx, therefore Socialism was made in Germany. The country is being weakened by the activities of Socialists, who are the direct agents of German authority. Socialism has been tried for hundreds of years. It never has worked; it never will work, for it is unworkable.

"All single taxers are Socialists, and all the attempts of single taxers have failed. Single tax is another product of Germany. It was tried in France nearly 200 years ago and failed. Wherever it has been tried it has failed. It never will work; it is unworkable. All these things are the results of impractical dreamers, who leave out of the problem the factor of human nature."

Mr. Clark pointed out that a proposed single-tax amendment is to make its appearance again on the November ballot.

"Our country is a fertile soil," he added, "lending itself to purposes of the propagandist of whatever cause. The advantage is all with the propagandist, for he sows the fields with his obnoxious seed. The good grain is generally not planted until afterwards and it is necessary to destroy the weeds while cultivating. The single-tax propagandist is perhaps one of the most mischievous, for he pictures beautiful and wonderful growth. He is the enemy of every person who owns a lot. His propaganda at the present time is pro-German, pure and simple."

Mr. Clark pointed out that many cities in Canada have tried out single tax and regretted it afterwards. He cited Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver. He recalled that in California the amendment has been defeated in 1912 by 74,688 majority, in 1914 by 108,016 and in 1916 by 216,201.

About seventy-five business men attended the luncheon of the Commercial Board at the Clark. F. B. McCroskey, president, was chairman and M. A. Leach and Albert Cohn, the latter vice-president, spoke on business of the board.

INCENSE FAILS TO SAVE GOLD.

Japanese Reports to Police Theft of Savings Hidden Behind Image.

Burning incense before a miniature Buddha every night in an effort to keep thieving spirits from a cache of gold secreted behind the image failed to save K. Minura, a gardener, living at No. 412 South Alameda street, his life's savings, amounting to $300, last Tuesday night.

Minura had heard that gold would soon be worth 2 for 1 in paper and had converted all his savings into the precious metal. Yesterday he reported to the police that some thief had brushed the protective joss sticks aside and appropriated the sack of gold pieces.

Suspicion.

TAKE FIVE BOYS AS HIGHWAYMEN

Accused of Three Hold-ups in Early Morning.

Victim Beaten on Head Sure of Identification.

Some of Those Arrested Late Inmates of Ione.

Five hours after reports had reached police headquarters that six automobile bandits had started another reign of terror by holding up three men in widely separated parts of the city early yesterday morning, five youths identified as members of the bandit gang were taken into custody while riding in a stolen Chandler car. The arrests were made by Detectives Nelson and Riggs and Corporal Krug of the University Police Station. Three of the alleged bandits are recent inmates of the Ione Reformatory and the other two are said to have been lately paroled from local courts.

Those under arrest are J. B. Gardner, 18, of No. 1832 Orange street, paroled from Ione last July; Joe Cummings, 19, of No. 668 East Thirty-seventh street, shipyard worker at San Pedro; Ernest Edwards, 17, living at No. 1315 East Forty-fifth street, employed at the Murray Baking Company; Joe Dee, 18, of No. 626 East Twenty-fourth street, taxi driver; and Clarence Ogden, 18, of No. 416 East Thirtieth street, employed by the Alfred Ice Cream Company at No. 807 East Eighteenth street, where George Holt, the manager, was held up and relieved of $20.

The first clew which led to the arrest of the alleged bandits was found yesterday when the detectives went to the home of Clarence Ogden at No. 416 East Thirtieth street and found the Dee youth with him in a garage. In the garage was a car and secreted under the front seat was found a .38 caliber revolver.

ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE.

As the detectives were talking to the boy, they heard another machine drive up in front and sound a horn. Corp. Krug immediately ran out and saw three young men in a touring car. On seeing the officer, Edwards, who was at the wheel is said to have thrown the clutch in high gear in an attempt to escape. Officer Krug made a flying leap to the running board of the car and grappled with the nearest youth, at the same time calling to the other officers for assistance. After a brief struggle, during which the machine was nearly wrecked, the men were placed under arrest.

When taken to the University Station the boys denied they had stolen the unidentified machine, which carried an Arizona license. They asserted that a man by the name of Frank Johnson, living at No. 615 Kohler street, who left to join the army yesterday morning, had taken them for a ride on Tuesday night and had left the car in the care of Edwards for a few days.

SURE OF IDENTITY.

The police, however, say they are positive that the men under arrest are the bandits. Late yesterday afternoon J. F. Scothorn of No. 6215 Miramonte avenue, one of the bandit victims, positively identified Gardner, Cummings and Edwards as three of the men who beat him on the head at Slauson and Central avenues after robbing him of $20. He also identified a watch and peculiarly-shaped key found in the possession of Edwards.

The other victims of the auto bandits include Charles R. McCarthy, a local attorney, who was robbed at Crown Hill avenue and Boylston street of $50 and a promissory note for $250. When George Holt was held up, an auto carrying six men rushed up to the doorway of the Alfred Ice Cream Company, where he was checking up the day's business, and as two men covered him with revolvers, another grabbed $20 in cash.

After further investigation the boys probably will be taken to Ione until they are 21 years of age, it is stated.

Three jailed by police as auto bandit suspects.
Left to right, they are Joe Cummings, J. B. Gardner and Ernest Edwards.

RED CROSS AFFAIRS (Advertising)

To Serve Dinner.

The Stanton War Relief Corps will serve a noon dinner tomorrow at Patriotic Hall, No. 1816 Figueroa street, the proceeds of which go to the maintenance of the Stanton chapter of the Red Cross, which holds an all-day meeting at that address tomorrow.

At Adobe Inn.

Mrs. William Macdonald, assisted by Mrs. Harry Brubaker, will be the hostess in charge of the Red Cross Adobe Inn, Figueroa and Jefferson streets, this afternoon. A musical programme will be given. The management of the inn extends a cordial invitation to all card and luncheon clubs to use the inn as a gathering place. The usual weekly dance will be held on Saturday night in the open-air dance pavilion.

For a Submarine.

An appeal is made by Red Cross headquarters, Tenth and Main streets, for a hornless phonograph that is wanted on board a United States submarine which is to sail very soon. Notify the bureau of publicity.

NO GROOM NOR RINGS.

So Young Woman Left Waiting Brings Suit for Embezzlement and Larceny.

A wedding set for Labor Day and which failed to materialize caused a complaint charging embezzlement and grand larceny to be issued yesterday against "Ted" Harper, an aviator. The complaint was sworn to by Miss Alice Miller of No. 534 South Flower street.

Two diamond rings and $50 in currency figure in the charges as having been loaned to Harper following a successful proposal of marriage to her, as the result of which September 2 was set for the wedding. Harper failed to appear, as did the rings and the money, so Miss Miller appeared before Deputy District Attorney Heinecke, who issued the complaint. Harper was said to be under arrest in San Diego.

What's the right thing to do about buying clothes?

You're glad to do the right thing, when you know what it is; we all feel the same way. You are told that it's important that business shall go on; also that unnecessary consumption takes labor and material from war work. What's the patriotic thing to do?

YOU as a wearer of clothes, and we as makers ought to save on clothes in every way possible. The less you consume the more labor and material are left for our fighting forces.

That's why we urge men not to buy clothes, if they have enough; some have plenty.

That's why we say, "take care of your clothes; make them last longer."

That's why we say, "if you feel that you must have new clothes, get good clothes." American money should be spent for goods that save by lasting service.

Real economy in clothes is measured by the number of days' service given for each dollar of cost; buy on that basis.

Back from Catalina.

Many Los Angeles folk who found going to Catalina a pleasant pilgrimage are now hieing themselves back again. Mr. and Mrs. John Percival Hunt, who took Miss Nelchen Armstrong along with them, are now home. Mrs. Evelyn Tedford and her mother, Mrs. L. Griswell and Walter Erbe, and Capt. and Mrs. Robert Gaylord are back, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sutton returned yesterday. Mrs. Sidney I. Wailes has returned home and Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Schweppe will be home in a few days. Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Hollingsworth and their two sons returned to town on Tuesday and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jevne and Mr. and Mrs. H. Jevne will be home in town shortly Misses Rowena, Camille and Margaretta Schneider are home again. Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Merritt and their son, of Pasadena, who have been entertaining their friends on their yacht, Tagus, will remain at the island a little while longer.

Marriage Announced.

Miss Coralie I. Cook of this city and Mr. Harold F. Hopkins of Fillmore, Cal., were married by Rev. J. M. Schaefle, at his home, No. 1206 El Molino street. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives. After a trip the couple will reside in Fillmore.

Younghans-Barton Wedding.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Younghans was the scene of a pretty war wedding last evening when their daughter, Elsie B. Younghans married Edward D. Barton, a soldier stationed at Camp Kearny. The service was read by Rev. A. J. Grury. Miss Gladys Boore was maid of honor and W. Johnston stood with the bridegroom. Forty guests witnessed the ceremony. Mr. Barton leaves Saturday for Camp Kearny and his bride will remain with her parents.

Are Wed at St. John's.

A pretty church wedding, crowning a romance that began in the East, occurred at 5 o'clock last evening in St. John's Episcopal Church, West Adams and Figueroa streets, when Marjorie Fitzmaurice Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Burton Wood of No. 7068 Hawthorne avenue, Hollywood, became the bride of Douglas C. Smead of Springville, N. Y., now attached to the Balloon School at Arcadia. Dr. George Davidson was the officiant, and the wedding took place in the presence of a small company of close friends of the bride and brother officers of the bridegroom. Immediately after the ceremony the couple departed on a trip of several days.

Personals.

Mrs. W. J. Chichester and her daughter, Mrs. Claire P. Dussie and Mrs. Dussie's children have gone to Louisville, Ky., to visit Mrs. Chichester's brother, Mr. Andrew Gray and his family. From there they go to New York and Washington. Mrs. Dussie plans to remains in New York most of two or three months, but Mrs. Chichester may not be away so long.

Mrs. Force Parker of No. 209 Canyon Drive, Beverly Hills, yesterday received word of the safe arrival overseas of her son, Sergt. Warner S. Parker of the One Hundred and Forty-fourth Field Artillery.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Neal and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Russell have returned to town after a very enjoyable outing at Catalina.

Mrs. Alphonso Sepulveda and her 2-year-old daughter, Conchita, have returned from Long Beach where they spent a few days at Hotel Virginia. At the Saturday night hop, small Conchita captured the hearts of all the dancers, whom she joined in perfect step.

Mrs. Amy S. Foster and Miss Annie L. Squier of No. 3948 South Normandie avenue, will pass the month of September at the Marshall apartments in Redondo Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Hook and their daughters, Misses Mary A., Anna E. and Dorothy Hook, are at the Hotel del Coronado for an indefinite stay. Mrs. J. H. Parrett motored down with them.

Mrs. Daniel Innis and her daughter, Mrs. Willard James Doran and her grand-daughter, Miss Louise Innis, are at the Hotel del Coronado for the month of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Secondo Guasti have returned from their ranch at Guasti where they went for a few days rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli P. Clark are home from an enjoyable outing at Santa Monica and Balboa Beach.

Misses Rosario and Mary Dockweiler have returned home from a two weeks' stay at Hotel de Coronado, where they were the center of many pleasurable cuttings, dinner-dances, luncheons and teas.

Miss Mollie Adelia Brown has returned from San Francisco.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

Up-to-datest:

Table mats of silver! Either to be used with snowy damask or upon smooth, polished boards, they are handsome and useful.

A huge circular cape of beaver-colored broadcloth has rows of beaver fur and a big collar of the same fur.

One of the newest hats is of beaver fur and beaver colored ribbon, both laid plainly over one of the trench turban shapes.

Door pulls to replace door knobs! These come from China and are of simulated jade and other precious or semi-precious materials, with heavy cords knotted and looped to give contrasting color. With one of these the "latch string" may literally be "always out."

The kangaroo scarf of fur. It will be described elsewhere.

Now is the Time to Buy:

The newest modes in footwear which have just arrived in the exclusive shoe stores. The first showings are quite tempting, even though the price is higher than the cut of the highest shoes.

The first fall hats have arrived in many of the exclusive shops. Velvet and fur; fur and velvet; beaver and velvet; beaver and fur. These seem to be prime favorites.

The last piece of furniture wanted for winter home refurnishing. That big furniture store has continued its sale, for the very reason that some never realize what they need until opportunity is past. The for-less furniture days are numbered.

Toy Foot Foremost.

That so Frenchish store on Seventh street has put its toy foot foremost and is holding a preshowing of dolls, in that saving basement where, in a short time, there will be a toyful jubilee. The dolls exhibited are singularly fascinating. Most expressionful are the features of the wee babyish ones, showing their first, tiny seed-pearl teeth, by their smile. These are made-in-America dolls—hurrah!—and they show that we are as resourceful in dolling as in aiming guns or following other peaceful occupations.

Eager Grouping.

In passing along a downtown street, if you see a crowd eagerly pressing toward a window, you may be sure that it is not some wonderful creation of the manufactory that they are looking at. It is not a product of the farm or garden that rivets their attention. It is the new —yes—the very latest. The latest line of Hunnish demarcation on the western front! When you penetrate to the center of that crowd you are sure to find a big war map with the fighting line of soldiers picked out in pegs. And man, woman and child who looks can tell just what is happening. Possibly each may not be able to pronounce to a nicety the name of the towns or cities won; but they know how many prisoners were captured and what is the next place to be won. Moreover, each is quite likely to have worked out a method that should, in his or her opinion, be followed by the generals in charge. The winter campaign has already been fought by many a household. One less lump of sugar in the tea! A slice of bread less all around! Another war stamp per week!

Newly Ivoried.

At that big Chinese store out Seventh street—the one store there, it is in fact—I saw such novel ivory ornaments. They were intended for decoration of condiment boxes, in fact; but the man and I agreed to use them as danglers for a silken corded necklace.

They are huge hollow balls, carved most intricately and some are antique looking, the better fitting them for this use. And oh! Suppose we fill them with shredded silk or cotton in a brilliant tint and saturate it with perfume! This perfumed stuff should match in color the cord used to suspend the ivories around the neck and these should be terminated by odd, silken tassels.

Odd Knitting-Needle Cases.

It was at that Chinese store I discovered such fascinating cases for knitting needles. Of Oriental embroidery, they were the full length of the needles, and the colors were so rich and beautiful as to lend charm to the dullest of yarns used for most practical purposes, as all yarns must be used, henceforth.

The Kangaroo Scarf.

The newest thing in furs is the kangaroo scarf. No. You've guessed it wrong! Not made from the skin of kangaroos. Got yet "dangerous." Siberian squirrel skins, or sables, or any favorite fur may be used. It is the form which gives the name to the kangaroo fur scarf. It is a neck-piece falling in a single, flat stole-like piece from chin to well below the waist, where it terminates in pocket made by folding upward the lower edge of the scarf. Hence the kangarooish name, you see. The same kind of pocket is there, used by mamma kangaroos for transporting their babies.

Feather Upstarts.

The ostrich feather has become pre-eminent in the millinery world, arrogating to itself all the feathery eclat, known in other days to the osprey and the paradise, the heron and the "burnt" goose quill.

To be sure the ostrich has masqueraded into this high position; has in fact crept in under a camouflage. One must needs look more than twice to make certain that most of the ostrich phantasies are in fact the offspring of the kindly awkward bird. Ostrich flues simulate almost everything in trimming—save merely ostrich feathers. One of the latest of these to stand up for its rights, boldly and openly, is the militant plume of the drum major. This dominating brush is apt to pose directly at the front of the new, round turban. Striking, unmistakably modish, this new effect in plumes may be most becoming or decidedly the reverse.

Those Silver Mats.

They look like carved silver, and in fact entire scenes are represented upon their surfaces. The finish is that of an antique silver famed as "Dutch"—and they are rich looking to a high degree. They are in fact a silver plating upon thin metal which is lined with heavy felt, affording a protection to the mahogany of the uncovered board. As a decorative mat for hot dishes upon the luncheon table, they are useful and beautiful. I have seen them at but one place in town.

Fashion's Fusillade.

White chiffon embroidered in silver thread and girdled broadly with silver cloth makes a charming dinner gown.

To reconcile us to wintry winds there is a navy blue velveteen suit with vest and deep collar of beige angora.

The linings of coats and evening wraps are more brilliant in color and more intricate in design than the outer material.

Some smart women wear a perfectly plain veil over their hats and after it is securely on glue separate dots on where it is most becoming.

Fur coats for winter promise to be made of a combination of two or three kinds of fur, and a very charming combination is Hudson seal and beaver.

A great blue cape lined with scarlet or rose color is a delightful thing to own.

What could be more striking than an organdie dress with inserts of black velvet?

Straight lined, loose dresses are the only becoming styles for large women.

Beaded bags never go out of style and they always possess an air of distinction.

A natural linen frock can be most appropriately worn with a scarlet hat and belt.

Shaded ostrich feathers are very attractive when used upon a wide-brimmed hat.

Dark shades of velvet will be used for the fall hat, rather than brilliant hues.

Black satin embroidered in white is going to become a familiar sight to us before long.

A scarf to be cherished is one of black-and-gold brocade, banded with heavy fur.

CARUSO :: IN :: THE :: MOVIES.

"Come on in. They're Fine." He Says.

Enrico Caruso,

Whose golden voice is temporarily hushed, but whose acting in "My Cousin," his first Artcraft picture, shows that he has another wonderful talent.

ENRICO CARUSO GOES. INTO THE MOVIES.

Enrico Caruso is having the time of his life these sizzling summer days, and he doesn't care who knows it. At last he has found what he has been looking for all these years; namely, a chance to act. He is acting all over Greater New York and adjacent parts of New Jersey in his first Artcraft photoplay, "My Cousin." He plays two roles: one his own proper self, the other a poor artist who claims to be a cousin of the great tenor, thereby providing the necessary complication. Thus Caruso is able to hold the center of the stage almost continuously, except when he has to share it with himself. For the camera is versatile. By means of double exposures it enables an actor to meet himself face to face, which is something not possible on the stage.

Circumstantial evidence developed since he turned to motion pictures tends to prove that nature intended Caruso for a great actor. Good intentions were complicated by a matchless voice. Starting in at 11 years of age, Caruso had been singing for thirty-four years before he found his rightful niche. He did not recognize it when he found it. Like many another, he was prejudiced against motion pictures. He considered the so-called "new art" as something less than an art; hence he believed he might imperil his artistic reputation by appearing on the screen.

By expending eloquence enough to have carried a close election Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, persuaded the distinguished tenor to investigate motion pictures. He was shown one of the best modern photoplays starring an actor who won distinction on the stage. He called for more. And then some.

"Bring on your contract," said Caruso. By putting his signature on that document the greatest of tenors certified that he had indeed found a "new art" worthy his best endeavors.

BILLS AT THE KINEMA, PALACE AND DE LUXE.

There are lots of laughs in the Kinema programme this week, for De Mille's "Till I Come Back to You" contains much tender, wholesome comedy interwoven with the stirring love story. Bryant Washburn, as the young American officer in Belgium who almost faced a firing squad because he couldn't sacrifice children's lives, has added to his many admirers by his admirable handling of the role. Next week the Kinema will present a double leader bill, "The Prussian Cur," dealing with Germany's insidious spy activities in America, and a stupendous pen picture by Winsor McCay, famous American artist, on "The Sinking of the Lusitania."

William S. Hart, in "Shark Monroe," his latest screen comedy triumph; Roscoe Arbuckle in "Goodnight, Nurse," and a rattling good Christie Comedy, "Don't Believe Everything"—these are the Palace's offerings this week. Hart's picture is one of thrills and romance, showing the exciting life lived by the dwellers in the land of the midnight sun. Arbuckle's picture is a scream from start to finish. The Christie comedy, in which Billy Mason appears, is bright and snappy.

Charles Ray was the star on the De Luxe programme last evening. He was seen in "The Claws of the Hun," a stirring screen story of German intrigue. Wallace Reid will appear this evening and Friday in "Believe Me, Xantippe," one of his most popular successes, and Saturday Edna Goodrich comes in "Who Loves Him Best."

FOR WAR WORK.

A war relief club, composed of Beverly Hills women, is to give a tea tomorrow afternoon from 3 o'clock until 7 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Force Parker, No. 209 Canyon drive. This band of diligent workers was organized before the war to do all kinds of war work.

PROGRAMME AT DENISHAWN.

The pupils of Ruth St. Denis and Lieut. Ted Shawn gave an interesting programme last night at Denishawn, No. 616 South Alvarado street. Lieut. Shawn, who is stationed at Camp Kearny, was granted special leave of absence for this occasion. Admirers of these two famous exponents of Terpsichore's art turned out in full force.

BRUNTON RETURNS.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR INDEPENDENT PICTURES.

By Grace Kingsley.

Returning to town yesterday from New York chanting salvos of praise to the Southern California climate, and bringing with him, besides three new pairs of earrings for his wife, two important contracts for the Brunton studios, Robert Brunton, president of that organization reports encouragingly regarding the picture outlook as seen from the metropolitan viewpoint.

The two contracts mentioned are those of Lillian Walker, who will make pictures at the Brunton studios for W. W. Hodkinson and Kittie Gordon, who will produce for the United Pictures Theaters Company. In both cases, handsome dressing-rooms are to be provided.

Regarding the picture outlook for the coming year, Mr. Brunton declared exhibitors both in New York and other cities which he visited en route considered the prospects as most favorable, especially for the pictures independently produced.

"It looks as if the independently produced pictures were to buck the programmes harder than ever," said Mr. Brunton. "In particular, big and powerful concerns like the First National Exhibitors Circuit and United Picture Theaters Company seem destined to become even stronger during the coming year."

Two other important stars are considering signing up for studio room and production facilities at the Brunton studios, according to Mr. Brunton, who, however, did not wish to divulge their names at present.

Mae Murray Fights Fire.

Fighting fire is the latest exercise indulged in by that pepful person, Mae Murray, according to a telegram just received from the lively young lady, who apparently wrote it while still all sooty and breathless from the fray. The telegram is dated from Lake Tahoe, and recites the fact that all day and night of Sunday last Miss Murray, Robert Leonard, her director, and all the members of the Bluebird company who went north with Miss Murray to work in her current picture, labored in company with the regular forest rangers against a terrific mountain fire in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe, and that not until yesterday morning was the conflagration finally under control.

But this is not all. So heavy was the travel up the mountain where the fire was raging that a new trail was formed, and while naming babies and cigars and streets after picture stars is old stuff, Miss Murray is to receive the compliment of having a brand new mountain trail named in her honor. At least the forest rangers have written a letter to the government about it.

Cupid Wins Star.

Cupid, peeping out from behind a khaki-clad figure, makes a dead shot every time, these days. Now it's none other than the lovely Beulah Booker, Paralta star, who has fallen captive to the soldierly charms, the happy man being Kenneth O'Hara, who formerly considered no piece in the paper complete which did not contain the name of Thomas H. Ince, and who enlisted in the United States Army a few months ago, since which time he has been promoted to the rank of sergeant, being stationed at Camp Kelly, Texas.

It was while urging the charms of picture stars upon hard-hearted editors, that Mr. O'Hara decided Miss Booker was quite the loveliest of the lot, and he finally succeeded in persuading her to accept him. After he joined the army and his departure for France was imminent, the wedding was hastened. The ceremony took place at the Hollywood Episcopal Church last Tuesday night, the bride's mother giving her away, while Charlie Pike stood up with the groom.

The couple will spend a short honeymoon in Southern California, after which Mr. O'Hara will return to Camp Kelly, whence he expects to leave soon for France.

War Songs Make Hit.

The Military Minstrel Jubilee Singers at Sid Grauman's Theater are making a great hit this week, where beautiful stage sets add to the appeal of the act. These settings extend from the front of the stage to the rear, and include both cannon and tents. The opening chorus is a medley of "Smile, Smile, Smile" and "Keep the Home Fires Burning," followed by other musical numbers of a warlike character.

David Shifts.

David Butler, member of the Morosco company, and son of Fred Butler, the stage director of the Morosco, who was to have played a prominent role in Frank Mandel's new play, "A Perfect Day," has been won over to pictures, and at present is playing a leading role in D. W. Griffith's current picture.

Their Education Complete.

There used to be two people in the stage profession who had never seen a motion picture taken. Now there aren't any. The two, who were none other an Otto Gygi, the well-known Russian violinist, and his wife, known professionally as Mlle. Maryon Vadie, will appear at the Orpheum next week. The deficient experience of the Gygis's was rectified yesterday, when Julian Eltinge acted out in scenes of his current picture, "Over the Rhine." These scenes being made on the grounds of Mr. Eltinge's beautiful home overlooking Silver Lake.

Tally Books War Film.

Booked for Tally's Broadway next week, is the first of what is said to be one of the most vivid war pictures so far produced. It is entitled "Italy's Flaming Front" and is a vast panorama of Italy's fighting arena in films. These official government films, taken in the mountains, were obtained from airplanes, giving a wide sweep to the camera. The views include also a showing of the Austrian airplane bombing attack on Italy's dreadnaughts and a battle in the Adriatic, as well as other thrilling scenes.

Biggest Offer in World.

It is now known that the offer which the First National Exhibitors' Circuit has made to Mary Pickford amounts to twice the sum paid the star under her contract with Artcraft, and is the largest salary ever paid anybody for anything in the world. That is, the sum is double the amount in gross, but from it will come production expenses, as Miss Pickford, under the new contract, would produce in exactly the same manner as Charlie Chaplin does.

It is the intention, in case Miss Pickford and the First National come to terms, that Miss Pickford is to secure the best plays and stories on the market, suited to her abilities and personality.

He Didn't Split Gloves.

Eleanor Kern's former husband, Senor Brava, sat in the front row at the Orpheum last Monday night and watched his ex-wife perform. He did applaud a bit when her act was finished, but not enough to split his gloves.

Dusty Comes Back.

Dustin Farnum returned from San Clemente Island yesterday bringing with him a big catch of swordfish, also the announcement he was going to buy a whale gun to use on his next trip, as he saw a number of the great sea denizens during his cruise.

WOMAN NOW LAWYER.

On motion of Robert W. McDonald, Miss F. Josephine Stevenson of Pasadena was admitted to practice in the United States District Court yesterday.

CORINNE CARTER TELLS THE FUTURE AND PAST.

Corinne Carter, who unfolds a marvelous chapter from the supernatural, assisting Carter the Magician at the Mason this week, is being fairly swamped with questions, which she has promised to answer through the mail. She is answering as many as possible through the the mail, but all not receiving their replies may hear their answers Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening, the last two performances of Carter the Great.

Miss Carter has received so many letters from the city and patrons of the Mason living out of town, that she has had to employ a secretary who has been working early and late. Miss Carter's ability has been the result of years of study and hard work.

WOULD ANNUL MATCH.

The parents of Lowell Keith Askew could not obtain his consent to bring suit to annul his marriage to Gladys N. Askew. The action was brought yesterday by the parents, Charles J. and May Askew, on the ground that their son married without their consent. On the date of the marriage, August 23 last, Lowell was within fifteen days of being 18 years old. It was stated that he is living with his bride, another obstacle to the youth joining in the action. The young couple were made defendants to the suit.

YEA, BO.

The government has fixed the prices on rope, which means that arrangements are being made along a line that may interest the Kaiser.

HOW ABOUT IT.

With prohibition enforced who is going to keep the cork in the cider jug? If the "dry" law is to be a success, it will be necessary to keep the apple juice protected from the air.

THE HIGH COST.

The papers are full of statements as to what the war is costing us; but whatever the figures they are nothing to what it would cost us if Germany was to get her paws on our resources and carry on. Don't kick on the bill! It is worth all that it is likely to cost. Human freedom is beyond price.

AS TO POETRY.

The Statistical Bureau of the Society for the Suppression of War Poetry has classified the various kinds of verse as follows: Kaiser poetry, 30 per cent.; hurrah-boys-hurrah poetry, 30 per cent.; made-over songs, 20 per cent., and sob poetry, 20 per cent. And there is the sweetheart variety that offers many specimens. In fact 100 per cent. is an inadequate estimate of the supply of poetry on hand.

HIGH TIME, INDEED.

John D. Ryan has resigned the presidency of the Anaconda Copper Company in order to devote his entire time to government aircraft production and operation. Considering the present condition of our aerial fleet, it is high time that everybody who has been appointed to any department of the airship programme resign every other position and abandon every thought except that of making good with and for Uncle Sam.

THE PROPER ACTOR.

If there is any thespian in the broad land that should have the leading role in that comedy of the quizzical title, "Why Marry?" It is certainly Nat Goodwin. Nat has drawn five chances; and if experience maketh a wise man, as some good book has said, there are few benedicts alive so competent to advance an opinion. But when approached by the interviewer, Nat only looked retrospective and repeated the query as one who sought enlightenment on his past follies. Why marry? Yes, why?

OLD-FASHIONED FISHING.

In the old days a boy only needed a willow pole, a few feet of line, and a few "Limerick" hooks to go fishing and catch something. Now he must have a jointed rod, silk line and a variety of hooks, wading boots, a specially made chain on which to string the fish, a creel, a real fisherman's hat, an expensive lunch and a high-priced automobile. Fish worms used to be the bait; now a real supply of good bait costs at least $2 of any man's money. The price of fishing has gone up, and there is little real sport left in the world.

IS CRIME DECREASING?

The August police report for Los Angeles shows that crime is decreasing in this city while traffic accidents are increasing. There is little that is accidental about crime, as a rule; but there is often much that is purely criminal about so-called accidents, especially traffic accidents. The tragic events resulting from drunkenness, carelessness or the simple failure on the part of chauffeurs to observe the speed and traffic laws are just as regrettable as if they were the results of premeditated plans to kill and injure. Probably 95 per cent. of the automobile accidents could be avoided by a little thought and caution on the part of drivers. If that is the case, is it hardly correct to report a decrease in crime?

HAYDEN OF ARIZONA.

Carl Hayden, Representative in Congress from Arizona, is forced to face his own record in his campaign for re-election. Hayden formed, with Randall of California and a few others, the pacifist group in the national House of Representatives. Hayden voted against the declaration of war against Germany and his vote on other administration war measures won for him the opposition of the National Security League.

Arizona has never been noted for its pacifist disposition and it is not easy to understand how a man of Hayden's type was ever elected to Congress by an Arizona constituency. It is enough to make the "Arizona Kicker" turn over in his grave. Hayden voted against five of the six administration war measures; his vote on the other has never been satisfactorily explained. The Republicans of Randall's California district have already repudiated him, and his chances in the general election are remote. It is to be hoped that the Republicans of Arizona will do to Hayden what the Republicans of California have done to Randall.

WORK OR FIGHT, YES.

"Work or fight" is a dominant feature of the new man-power bill. The willful loafer, whether he be a striker or a wealthy slacker, can be compelled by its provisions either to engage in some useful industry at home or to go into the Federal cantonments and overseas. When the bill was under discussion in the Senate the walking delegates of the labor unions bitterly opposed any clause that would permit a striker to be withdrawn from a deferred classification and forced into active service. It is significant that the only opposition to the "work-or-fight" principle came from labor unions.

While the bill was under debate in its present form the constitutional lawyers in the Senate agreed that a workman, placed in a deferred classification because he was engaged in some essential industry, could be recalled and put into active military service if he should cease to perform the work that had won for him his exemption. The inherent justice of such a provision is so plain that it is a surprise to find even the labor unions opposing it. Exemption is given in order that the person exempted may perform some essential work; when he ceases to perform that work the exemption should cease automatically.

If a worker in a shipyard or munition factory is dismissed his employer notifies the exemption board that he no longer desires exemption for that worker. Yet if a worker stops of his own volition, or in conjunction with enough other workmen to cripple seriously the industry, there are some who argue that his exemption should remain in force. Such an interpretation of the law would hold the entire man-power bill up to public ridicule. Conscripting man power can be justified only by the pressing necessity of defending the republic against foreign aggression. The instant the conscription act is so worded that a particular class is favored or unduly burdened, then the whole provision becomes indefensible.

Every patriotic citizen is willing to engage in some essential labor at this time. Strikers and slackers—and the terms are often synonomous—become public enemies when the safety of the republic is menaced. Reading the Senate debate over the man-power bill one recalls the judgment of Solomon. When the Thomas amendment containing a rigid work-or-fight clause was introduced it was the labor unions that opposed it. Organized labor feared any act that might compel union loafers to serve their country; independent labor and industry welcomed the amendment. And while the Thomas amendment was beaten, its principle was embodied in other sections of the act. Military authorities have announced that they are fully satisfied that the man-power act permits them to bring any striker before an exemption board and make him show cause why he should not be sent either to the front or to work in some essential war industry. The strike is in itself a form of sabotage; it would be a travesty on republican government to permit a union loafer to shun work and active military service at the same time. "Work or fight" is the slogan of militant republicanism.

SEX PREJUDICE.

There is nothing so disconcerting for masculinity as to have its jealous prejudices against female competition exposed. And just now, when governments the world over are impressing women into every kind of war service, every department of labor, the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees scarcely shows to advantage in trying to enforce an agreement which contains a clause demanding that the employer "agrees not to support or encourage any school for the instruction of women or girls in the operation of motion-picture machines, nor employ women or girl machine operators."

The selfishness, the cheap pettiness of such a clause is all revealing. No wonder there are feminists and suffragettes, no wonder a sex war looms large for the future, no wonder intelligent women smile with scorn upon the poetic pedestal idea, the gallant protective idea, the vaunted masculine chivalry of which they hear so much and find so little!

Fancy any organization with such a high-sounding, world-embracing title as the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, ostensibly created for the protection of the entire profession, despicably discriminating against women, women who make the profession possible, women who are the bulwarks of that profession, women whose intelligence and beauty are responsible for its profitable popularity. But for women the motion-picture operators would have no raison d'etre. Bar women from the motion picture industry and there would be no industry.

What possible argument is there against women camera operators but that of cheap jealousy and prejudice? The operation of a picture camera is certainly not dangerous; it certainly requires no mighty and unique intelligence beyond the scope of feminine skill, it certainly cannot prove half as inimical to their health and the future race as munition making, it certainly demands no greater delicacy of touch and perception than the making of high explosives.

But trade unionism has ever been the selfish foe of women. Its aim has ever been to borrow women's work, restrict the scope of feminine competition. The unionites have ever complained that the women workers are difficult to organize—yet the great national and international federations of women's clubs, without the specious aid of masculinity, are proof enough that women can organize and work together with success and influence. It is only the dubious co-operation of the all-too-interested male, where their competition jeopardizes his personal superiority, that leaves them shy.

One recalls the outcry when women first sought to become Red Cross nurses. They were ridiculed as unclean of mind, as depraved in their desire to attend the wounded male on the battlefield. And when later they essayed to become doctors, all the old dirty arguments were spewed forth again. We all remember what the pioneer women have suffered through the ages when they essayed to intrude on masculine domain. It was once a dreadful reproach for a woman to crave learning, as in 1750 when educated women were derisively dubbed "bluestockings," because a distinguished man of letters who desired to encourage literary interests among women wore blue stockings. To be a bluestocking then was as shameful as being a pro-German today. Women writers had to take male pennames in self-defense, and keep their identity dark for their reputation's sake.

It is only during recent times that women have been allowed a university education. In Germany they are still forbidden to study law, much less practice it. In England, no matter how well they pass in their legal examinations, no woman is allowed to practice law.

In spite of all handicaps, with tradition and custom against women on all sides, they are nevertheless asserting their right to education, to votes, to professions, to labor, to all manner of service, and to self-support. Only the wage-earning father of a few healthy girls will be likely to appreciate the peculiar good fortune of the latter. The broader education and interests of women can only be harmful to a nation like Germany, whose government subsists on the subservience of the people. And those men who conscientiously believe in the all-around superiority of their sex have nothing to fear. If women have inferior intelligence, inferior physical capacity, inferior motives, their competition can prove of small avail. And if they have equal capacity, equal intelligence, equal judgment, the world needs them—as the governments of the nations are discovering today. Such prejudices as those of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees are futile and unworthy of the masculine sex.

WHEN THE ICEMAN STRIKES.

An American can always be spotted in a European restaurant because of his loquacious dismay at the absence of ice. The generous use of ice among the public is peculiar to the United States. Even in South Africa and South America ice is a luxury. In Europe it is rarely used by private families, except among the wealthy, and only the most expensive restaurants flaunt it for table purposes as evidence of acute epicureanism. As for iced water, it takes the average Britisher ten years to acquire the taste in this country.

In the equatorial countries ice is, of course, almost unknown. But the desert resident has learned a number of tricks for keeping his water cool, his butter hard, his milk sweet. If our Los Angeles icemen remain on strike long enough, they are likely to find their trade among the nonessentials. The writer lived in the Kalahari Desert for several years and has never spent a dime on ice since coming to the United States eleven years ago, and is quite unaware of any hardship or discomforting economy.

It is a scientific fact that a bottle of milk stood in a shallow basin of water with a wet cloth around it will keep cool even in a hot draught. The cloth will remain wet if its ends touch the water, and the evaporation preserves an even temperature. Butter can be kept hard by placing it in an earthenware jar, swathed in a wet cloth in the same way. With the temperature at 110 deg. in the desert, water for drinking purposes is hung in canvas bags or earthenware jars beneath a shady tree, or on the shady side of a house, or beneath an ox wagon. Traveling up to Mashonaland by ox wagon in South Africa, canvas bags of water were kept slung beneath the wagon, and no matter how intense the heat, the water remained cool.

It is a little more trouble for the housekeeper to do without ice, but it is quite comfortably possible.

TAKES CARE OF ITSELF.

Since the government has taken over the operation of the main railway arteries of the nation the chambers of commerce and other booster organizations have been given to understand that there should be no more advertising of the advantages of any particular section or community over another—that is, there ought not to be any organized campaign of printed publicity coupled with any proposition of railway rates.

The administration seems to take as a wartime proposition that one part of the country is as good as another—that if Arkansas is safe for democracy that Maine must be of the same cloth. Why should people go and see Niagara Falls when they can turn on the water in the family bathroom every Saturday night?

Fortunately the matchless climate of California is still able to advertise itself. People who wander near the State line get a sniff of its bland fragrance and then pack the family wardrobe for the usual trip. We may be deprived of some of the brilliant press notices of our majestic mountains, our odorous orange orchards and our star-swept seas, but the name and fame of the golden Southwest will still permeate and percolate into every nook and cranny of the civilized globe.

California is too big and beautiful to be overlooked and too benign and beneficent to fear a snub.

THE TROUBLE WITH THE GERMAN.

The matter with the German now is that he cannot bear to keep on year after year living with a world all around him full of people who think they are his equals. A German always talks up or talks down to people, never across. He cannot bear to be an equal himself, and he cannot bear to have people all round who do not want to bother to order him round and who will not let him order them.—[Gerald Stanley Lee in Saturday Evening Post.

SORROWS OF SATAN.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

My Dear Wilhelm: The last I heard from you you said something about coming here and showing me how to run the place. Have you been so busy putting the hell of your own on an efficiency basis that you haven't had time, or have you forgotten your bluff?

What I wanted to say was this: If you have such an up-to-date Hades of your own why do your people keep butting in on me? The place is becoming so cluttered up with Prussians that we haven't room for brimstone. Actually I have to go outside when I want to wag my tail. They come in at all hours of the night and they make such a racket that not a damned soul can sleep. No, I am not swearing; I am merely stating a fact. Only last night there was a noise as if the bottom had dropped out of the place. I called for my night man, Nero, and asked him what all the fuss was about. "Nothing, Your Majesty," he said, "except that another big shipment of Germans has just arrived."

We wouldn't mind it so much if they didn't want to put their ideas of efficiency over on us all the time. The other day they had a big saengerfest down by the Styx and everybody was yelping "Die Wacht Am Rhein" at the top of his voice. They wanted to change the name of the stream! What do you know about that? One of your professors from Heidelberg broke into my private quarters the other day. He had something like a rubber stamp and was trying to mark my pitchfork: "Made in Germany." Rather a nervy piece of business, I thought. He took a sniff at my furnace and then said that he had a gas that would make mine smell like violets. Just about that time another delegation of Germans came in from the hot poker room and said that they had passed resolutions declaring pinochle the national game!

And the airs they put on! A soul from Potsdam says it is half-damned already and so has the start of the rest of us. They want to make German the court language here and a crowd here yesterday insisted that I name Bismarck as Prime Minister or Chancellor and recognize your little Gehenna as a first-class power.

We might not mind it so much, but there are a couple of Irishmen here and if they get the idea into their heads that my government is not a stable one they will fight it from the drop of the hat. They do not like it here, anyhow. They say that all that makes it hell is that it's a dry place.

You know as well as I do that a government that cannot unquestioningly command the obedience of the governed is in danger. Where would we be if our vassals thought they were our equals? Take it from me, there would be no hell today.

So what I would like would be for you to keep your Germans in your own hell as far as possible. You understand them better than I do and know just how far it is safe to let them go. It is a time for us kings to pull together, and there is no reason in us quarreling, even if your head did get swelled up. I am willing to admit that you have some wonderful ideas and that possibly you could run a modern hot-air or steam-heated hell better than I could, but you must allow that my place has been running an awful long time and that its prestige, trade-marks and bad will are worth a whole lot. Some day you will come to me and admit it all and be glad to accept my hospitality. In that hour I will be generous and will be glad to let you show me what you can do with what I have. In my poor, weak way I will try to give you a hell of a time. Hoping these lines will find you the same.

Disrespectfully yours,
LUCIFER J. SATAN, IMP.

P.S.—Who is this Hindenburg person, anyhow? He sent me a red-hot wire telling me to save him the best quarters we had and declaring that he would probably knock on the place as he didn't suppose it was fit for a dachshund to sleep in. Said he wanted a suite with a special furnace in, as he had to have his hassenpfeffer piping hot at all hours. Must be a railroad magnate, as he says he is head of the Hindenburg line. Says he is colonizing Elysium with Frenchmen, but wants to save hell for the Germans. Will I give the Germans hell? Will I.

LUCIFER.

THE ANXIOUS DEAD.

Oh, guns, fall silent till the dead men hear
Above their heads the legions pressing on;
(These fought their fight in time of bitter fear
And died not knowing how the day had gone.)

Oh, flashing muzzles, pause, and let them see
The coming dawn that streaks the sky afar;
Then let your mighty chorus witness be
To them, the Caesar, that we still make war.

Tell them, oh, guns, that we have heard their call,
That we have sworn and will not turn aside,
That we will onward till we win or fall,
That we will keep the faith for which they died.

Bid them be patient and some day, anon,
They shall feel earth enwrapt in silence deep,
Shall greet, in wonderment, the quiet dawn,
And in content may turn them to their sleep.

a bucket of spuds,
Wearing a dirty apron to cover my

A hundred thousand in the bank,

But because I was late for roll call they gave me a week's K.P.

Sitting here in the kitchen, with slop all over my jeans,
Picking rocks and splinters out of a barrel of beans,
My thoughts have gone a-wandering to what I used to be,
Before I missed the last post car,
they gave me a week's K.P.

I think of the nights I squandered doing the ballroom stunt,
See what a sissy I was, what a hopeless, hopeless runt!
Oh, I was there with the girls; boys,
they called me a "ladies' man."
What would they say if they saw me now, scrubbing a greasy pan?

The mess sergeant is a slaver; he gives a man no rest;
The first cook is a villain, but I hate the second best.
Oh, sure, boy, I enlisted to march away to gore;
But they have got me here in the kitchen doing a company chore.

A week policing the kitchen, watching the biscuits browned,
Me who used to order 2000 men around,
What would they say if they saw me now,
Washing a hundred dishes ready for 6 o'clock chow?

Two months ago in the greenhouse
I held Eva's hand;
Told her I had enlisted to fight for my native land.
She leaned her head on my shoulder, and said she'd be proud of me,
She'd be proud all right if she saw me now, doing a week's K.P.

Dumping the slush in the hog can,
scrubbing the kitchen floor,
Swabbing a slum muck can till my hands are bleeding sore;
Fixing the hash for supper, putting the ice in the tea—

HUN MUST PAY.

As the transports pass out to sea loaded with American troops on their way to France thousands of onlookers follow them with misty eyes, thrilled by the realization that these young heroes encounter the perils of war before they lose sight of land. Submarines along the Atlantic coast have brought the war home to us as nothing else could do. Their barbarous attacks on lightships and fishing boats cause no alarm. Such terrorism exasperates us and hardens our will to win. The conviction is growing that the way to end for years to come the peril of Prussian militarism is to deprive the Huns of their ships of war and merchant marine in reprisal for their illegal and barbarous piracy on the high seas, and to prevent the construction of others to take their place. With the ships should go the Krupp and Skoda works, and all their other gun and munition shops. For the sake of peace and liberty the Huns must be restricted to the arts of peace until they lose their love for the arts of war and cease to worship and sacrifice on the altars of Wodin and Thor.—[New York Commercial.

SHIPYARD ATHLETIC PATRIOTS.

Shipyard work is a great institution at all times. So is baseball—in the army. But when hundreds of husky, alert, able-bodied professional ball players begin to scuttle from the diamond into shipyard work to escape the draft the time is ripe for a lusty roar.

With thousands of their countrymen charging machine guns, working under self-fire or grinding away back of the lines, it seems beyond belief that any well-trained athlete, fit for service, should be guilty of such yellow-hearted cowardice, traitors to their country's good, and worse than traitors to their own souls. The printed records stand as proof.

If these men can't be yanked into service they should be stopped from continuing their old profession on Saturdays and Sundays. Their ostracism should be complete.

And Ty Cobb says he is "thinking of enlisting later on." Later on? Suppose every American had decided to make it "later on"?—[Stars and Stripes, France

The officer was thrown to the hard pavement and somewhat bruised and his machine was badly damaged.

A jury failed to agree on a charge of reckless driving preferred against the doctor. The civil suit for $200 damages then followed.

GLENDALE SOLDIER ON ITALIAN FRONT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Sept. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Rowley of this city have learned through a sailor friend that Lawson, Robert E. Rowley, formerly a sergeant and instructor at the Rockwell Camp, was safely landed in France with a medical section, to which he is now attached as meteorological inspector, and is probably now on the Italian battle front. The unit is largely composed of students from Purdue University. When Sergt. Rowley learned there was a call for men to go to Italy and a shortage of privates he tendered his services and relinquished his rank and increased pay, declaring he had enlisted for service and was ready to go into action if needed.

SHIPBUILDERS' CHECKS.

Long Beach Clearinghouse to Open Headquarters at the City Hall.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 4.—A provision has finally been made in this city for the cashing of shipbuilders' pay checks. Commencing Saturday afternoon of this week, it has been arranged to care for the workmen in the City Hall. The Long Beach Clearinghouse Association has come to the rescue of the situation and will establish a headquarters in the City Clerk's room that will be open from 5 to 8 p.m. to accommodate the shipbuilders.

Later, the plan will be extended to take in days other than Saturday to take care of the workmen who do not get paid on that day. Merchants who have accommodated the shipbuilders in the past announce they will continue the practice.

Instead of utilizing the various voting precincts to handle the September 12 draft as first proposed, the local headquarters will be established in the Municipal Auditorium. About 200 volunteer registration assistants and a number of interpreters will be on hand to handle the men who will sign up.

W. P. Rankin, for a number of years principal of the Visalia High School, was today elected by the Board of Education of this city as a science teacher in the Long Beach Polytechnic High School. Mr. Rankin obtained his bachelor degree at Olivet University and his degree of master after two years of post-graduate work at Johns Hopkins University.

CLOSE VOTE, MAY CONTEST.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 4.—The official canvass made by the Board of Supervisors shows so small a margin between Chester M. Kline of San Jacinto and Frank L. Miller of Banning, candidates for Assemblyman, that it is expected that Miller will contest the election of Kline. The latter received but thirty-three votes above Miller's total. Miller, it is said, will allege in his contest that Democratic votes for Kline were counted with Republican ballots. The returns give Kline 2451 and Miller 2418.

WAR MAKES INROADS ON TEACHING FORCE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Sept. 4.—Supt. Richardson D. White is finding it impossible to secure male instructors in physical training in the grammar schools and may have to fill their places with women teachers. War marriages have also made inroads on the supply of women teachers, leaving several vacancies to be filled at short notice. Resignations have been tendered by Mrs. Pierce of the Colorado-boulevard school, and by Mrs. Henshey (nee Wetherbee,) director of music in the intermediate school, now the wife of Lieut. Henshey, in an Alabama camp.

ARMY PAYMASTER SPENDS DAY AT BALLOON SCHOOL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ARMY BALLOON SCHOOL, ARCADIA, Sept. 4.—Yesterday was pay day at the balloon school. The army paymaster distributed $75,000 among the soldiers. A rushing business in Thrift Stamps was done. This is one of the favorite ways of saving money at the post and several thousand dollars worth of stamps are owned at the balloon school.

Nine new instructors arrived yesterday at the post from Fort Omaha. They will be permanently attached to the school. They include the following: First Lieutenants S. Brown, P. Higgins, B. N. Martin and A. F. Rouse; Second Lieutenants L. E. Evans, A. B. Mulray, J. B. Norton, O. W. Bennett and E. L. Kitchen. These men are graduates of the balloon course as given by the army. Their addition to the corps of instructors give the balloon school nearly a complete list.

Y.M.C.A. REPORT.

The monthly report of the Y.M.C.A. shows that 14,250 soldiers at the balloon school attended the various meetings held in August. The number participating in recreative sports was 777 and the spectators totaled 3170. There were eleven religious meetings during the month with an attendance of 1672. Nearly 3000 men attended the eight special entertainments and the ten movie shows attracted 3700 men. The soldiers mailed 1645 letters through the Y.M.C.A. and purchased $641.96 worth of stamps. The Y safety deposit vault contains $2500 left there by the men for safe keeping.

"Jimmie" Taylor, veteran of the British army, who served two years in the trenches, was the sepaker at the Y entertainment today, relating reminiscences of the war. He enlisted at the same time as Field Marshal Haig and was with the commander in the Egyptian campaign. Mr. Taylor was recently gassed, after which he was furloughed for the purpose of doing Y.M.C.A. work.

The balloon school is trying to arrange a boxing match between Private Novak and Kid McCoy. Novak is known as the Polish wonder and he declares his willingness to meet the famous McCoy whenever it can be arranged. It is hoped at the school that a match can be made for some time this week.

SCHOOL PROMOTIONS.

The following promotions in the Sixty-sixth Company became effective this week: Sergeant (first class,) Otmo Weisenborn and Carl Hielbrunn; sergeants, William H. Walters, Frank B. Rhoades and Albert C. Heffner; corporals, H. C. Haines and O. R. Ludvickson; chauffeur, E. B. Gladson; cook, E. C. Rothrock.

The Jewish Community Service of Los Angeles has made arrangements to take care of all the men of Jewish faith at the balloon school during their religious holidays, which begin at noon September 6, and last until the morning of September 9; and from noon September 14 to the morning of September 17.

The following promotions in the Fifty-first Company have been announced: To be sergeants, Corps. Freeman, O'Connor and Sellstedt; to be corporals, Privates Simmons, Thibault and Feaster; to be chauffeurs, Privates Glafcke, Bisbing, Dore and Hammond; to be privates (first class,) Breakey, Chambers, Cyr, Flesher, Hug, Mitchell, Olson, Pattille, Pollack, Rich, Shedd and Walker.

Private Harry Lee of the Fifty-second Company has been assigned for duty as life guard at the swimming pool. Uncle Sam's army can produce an expert in any line wished. Private Lee qualifies for his position by sixteen years experience at some of the most famous resorts along the Atlantic Coast.

REDUCE TAX RATES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 4.—Acting in accordance with a recent informal decision, the Orange County Supervisors today officially set the 1918-1919 tax rate at $1.05 inside incorporated cities and $1.45 outside cities. This is a reduction of 25 cents over the previous year's rate. The Delhi and Westminster drainage districts will have higher rates, the Newport Drainage and Newbert Protection districts will have lower rates, while the Talbert drainage rate remains the same. The county assessed valuation is $71,910,000.

NO FOOD DEMONSTRATOR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 4.—Following agitation for several weeks over the proposed appointment of a Federal food demonstrator for Orange county, the Supervisors today put a quietus to the plan by definitely tabling the proposal. The county farm bureau some time ago asked that such an official be appointed, her expenses to be paid by the county, and later the Woman's County Food Conservation Committee expressed itself as opposed to the plan, believing the expense not justified.

HEAT KILLS COOK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, Sept. 4.—The first death in Visalia due to the heat, as far as records are available, was that of J. C. Fetter, cook in a local hotel, who died in a hospital here a short time after he fell unconscious after he had finished his work for the evening. Excessive drinking of ice water is said by physicians to have brought on the attack. Fetter came here only a few days ago from San Francisco. He was about 35 years of age.

TAX RATE UNCHANGED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Sept. 4.—The City Council today set the city tax rate at $1.65 for every $100 of assessed valuation. The rate is the same as that of the past two years. In view of higher prices for materials, labor, etc., it was decided that it would be unwise to make a cut in taxes at this time, although such a move had been discussed. The tax rate will bring to Pomona a total of $127,000.

THREE SONS IN ARMY; PARENTS PROUD OF IT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA BEACH, Sept. 4.—With a cablegram announcing the safe arrival of their son Orenzo in France, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Scribner of No. 1323 Eighteenth street, this city, are proud to realize that they have three sons in France and another working in the shipyards at Oakland.

"That is all our family. If there were more fit to go, I would have them all fighting for Uncle Sam," said Mr. Scribner today. Orenzo Scribner went to Camp Kearny a few months ago and was placed in the ammunition train as a mechanic. They never expected he would get across so soon. William Scribner enlisted a year ago in the Coast Artillery. He is now in the Anti-aircraft Division in France. Sergt. Roscoe Scribner is in the Twenty-third United States Engineers, and is seeing active service "over there." He enlisted at Bakersfield.

RIVERSIDE TAX RATES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 4.—A tax rate of $1.48 has been fixed by the City Council, to which will be added $1.93 for county taxes, and $1.29 for school purposes, or a total of $4.70. This is 34 cents in excess of last year's rate, although the rate of $1.48 for the city is the same as last year, which was the lowest in ten years. Banning, with a rate of $1.15, will have the lowest of any city in the county, while San Jacinto's rate, $2.55, is the highest.

POMONA, Sept. 4.—Four limited service men, captained by Myron F. Winslow of Boulder, Colo., left Pomona Tuesday for Camp Bowie, Fort Worth, Tex. Those who left from this district are: Robert Hardwick, Baldwin Park; Ray Isaac Cross, La Verne; Lavrita K. Anderson and Lawrence W. Palmer, Pomona.

LENGTH AGAINST HIM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COLTON, Sept. 3.—Three attempts to enter Uncle Sam's service, both in the navy and army, proved unsuccessful for Dwight Rutherford because, as the examiners put it, he was "too darn long." Then the young man, a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rutherford and who was a student last year at the University of California, made a fourth effort and this time "got by." He is now on his way to Louisville, Ky., to enter the artillery officers' training school.

A Great Responsibility.

THE responsibility attached to the preparing of a remedy for infants and children is undoubtedly greater than that imposed upon the manufacturer of remedies for adults whose system is sufficiently strong to counteract, for a time at least, any injurious drug. It is well to observe that Castoria is prepared today, as it has been for the past 40 years, under the personal supervision of Mr. Chas. H. Fletcher.

What have makers of imitations and substitutes at stake? What are their responsibilities? To whom are they answerable? They spring up today, scatter their nefarious wares broadcast, and disappear tomorrow.

Could each mother see the painstaking care with which the prescription for Fletcher's Castoria is prepared: could they read the innumerable testimonials from grateful mothers, they would never listen to the subtle pleadings and false arguments of those who would offer an imitation of, or substitute for, the tried and true Fletcher's Castoria.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

G. J. English, of Springfield, Mass., says: "It was your Castoria that saved my child."

Mrs. Mary McGinnis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "We have given our baby your Castoria ever since she was born, and we reccommend it to all mothers."

N. E. Calmes, of Marion, Ky., says: "You have the best medicine in the world, as I have given your Castoria to my babies from first to last."

Mrs. Albert Ugusky, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., says: "As I have had your Castoria in use for nearly three years, I am pleased to say it is just as represented. My children are both well and happy—thanks to Castoria."

R. P. Stockton, of New Orleans, La., says: "We began giving your Castoria to our baby when he was eight days old and have kept it up ever since, never having had to give any other medicine."

Mrs. Dolph Hornbuckle, of Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "We commenced giving your Castoria to our baby when she was four weeks old. She is now seven months and weighs 19½ pounds. Everyone remarks: 'What a healthy looking baby.' We give Castoria credit for it."

BANKS WITHIN HAIL OF MAXIMUM DEPOSITS.

LIBERTY LOAN subscriptions, higher cost of living, vacations, war demands of all kinds, an indifferent real estate market, contractions in some lines of business and any other financial deterrent to be thought of has only served to emphasize the unusual strength of Los Angeles business, as indicated in the figures given out yesterday in response to a call from the Comptroller of Currency for the condition of national banks at the close of business August 31.

In spite of the fact that, in the face of adverse conditions, deposits came within $500,000 of establishing a new deposit record for Los Angeles national banks, heads of several of these institutions gave no especial reason for the splendid showing except the fact that the public had the money and was learning to save.

The latest Liberty Loan was supposed to be fully paid up on August 13, and the fifteen days intervening before the call provided a really remarkable example of recovery, for, instead of stripping savings accounts and working hardship upon subscribers, the effect has been directly the reverse—deposits have increased; obligations have been met promptly; there are few slackers in completing payments, and, in the opinion of local bankers, the conditions in view of the war and all that it means to the money bags of the country are absolutely sound and a warrant for optimistic anticipation.

Deposits in the twelve Los Angeles national banks on August 31 were $102,680,380, an increase over the loan call, June 29, of $44,020, and the available cash on the day of the call was $30,441,842, against $30,120,302 on June 29, an increase of $321,540. Loans and discounts show a slight decrease. Under the regulations at present in force it is impossible to borrow money on nonessential, unapproved industries, and to this curtailment is attributed the falling off, which, however, only amounts to $457,760.

The following table shows the reports issued by the national banks of Los Angeles covering total deposits, loans and discounts and available cash as of August 31, and the preceding call June 29:

The Day in Wall Street.

WIDER SCOPE IN NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Trading in stocks today assumed wider scope, but the market developed an irregular trend immediately after the firm opening, the usual leaders closing mostly at moderate recessions.

War news, although the less impressive, was sufficiently favorable to invite further public participation, but commission houses were less active than yesterday. Rails held the greater part of their gains on an announcement that the government contract will soon become operative.

The weekly weather report, coming on yesterday's adverse, showing for cotton, indicated mixed crop conditions, Central and Eastern States being benefitted, while the section west of the Rockies remained too dry.

For the first time in a fortnight, call money eased a trifle, the rate falling to 5% per cent. in the afternoon when most of the day's requirements had been met.

United States Steel, Mexican Petroleum, Reading and Southern Railway were the principal contributors to the day's business. Steel moved in a 1 point radius, approximating the high record of the preceding session, but closed at a loss of ¾ of a point.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF PRODUCE MARKETS.

The weekly market review issued yesterday by the United States Department of Agriculture summarizes at large the conditions which have been developing upon the local market. Changes in values are still mostly downward, although declines as a rule were moderate. Cartot movement was heavy, the holidays was somewhat heavier, various leading northern shipping sections showing heavy gains which were partly offset by decreases from southern producing sections.

Exports of dried beans and peas are chiefly to Belgium, while honey went in large quantity to the United Kingdom. Recent government orders prohibit further exports of honey.

Revised official potato crop estimates indicate a decrease of 51,629,000 bushels compared with last year's crop, an increase of 103,944,000 bushels over the crop of 1916 and an increase of 27,997,000 bushels above the five-year average 1911-1915.

Cantaloupes are weak all over the country with considerable poor stock reported from leading markets. California's stock ranged from $2.75 to $4.50 per standard crate.

Apples are moving faster and the new crop is beginning to come in. New York and California were leading shippers for the week.

Pears ranged lower with declining demand. Grape values also tended downward with ample supply. California plums sold lower with prevailing range of $1 to $2 per four-basket crate. Onions are weak and peaches on the decline.

MORE TOMATOES FOR THE ARMY.

Government Takes Third of Pack for Soldiers.

Will Try Canner for "Cutting In" on Contract Crop.

Housekeepers Here Do not Return to Wheat Bread.

Because of the great demand of the soldiers of the Allies for the use of canned tomatoes to be used where pure water is not available, and because the Germans, in retreating, poison all water they can, the Food Administration has ordered that the percentage of canned tomatoes to be held in reserve by the canners be increased from 25 to 33⅓ per cent.

The first canner to appear for trial for having supposedly bought tomatoes in the field when the crop was already contracted to another will appear for trial before a local jury of canners, according to Frank M. Suffel, special food commissioner. Six complaints of "cutting in" on tomato crops already contracted for have been reported. The canner is found guilty his license will be revoked, according to the regulations. Other trials will quickly follow.

"If tomatoes are needed for army and navy consumption, the soldiers and sailors using canned tomatoes instead of using water, Mr. Suffel said yesterday that the situation in Southern California is causing much concern to the Food Administration. A short pack is expected, and there is an increased demand.

Information reaching Chester W. Kelley, chairman of the Fair Price Committee, yesterday showed that the government has ordered 50 per cent. of the butter in the cold storage be held in reserve. This order, does not affect the butter in Southern California, as no butter will be held in reserve. Combined storage in Los Angeles is 46,700 pounds of butter and the United States has over 6,000,000 pounds, which is more than in 1917. The butter reservations are mostly to centers like Kansas City and New York. The whistles day for Los Angeles and vicinity was officially declared Tuesday, the change to affect the use of Victory Housekeepers, for the most part do not return to wheat bread.

WINS COMMISSION.

Son of Dr. Herbert Packs Barton is Successful Candidate at Camp Taylor.

Among the successful candidates for commissions at the Field Artillery Central Officers' Training School at Camp Taylor, Ky., is Chandler Packs Barton, son of Dr. Herbert Packs Barton of the Clara Barton Hospital. Lieut. Barton graduated at the Los Angeles High School and afterwards entered the University of California, where he took the degree of B.A. with honors in 1916 and the degree of M.A. in 1917. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, the Sphynx and several other college societies. He attended the Monterey training camp and enlisted for service the day war was declared, but was taken ill with pneumonia.

This prevented his acceptance in any branch of the service, until he succeeded in entering the fourth officers' training school. He has been detailed for immediate duty at Camp Meade, Md.

BRITISH SECURITIES TO HELP LOAN DRIVE.

At a meeting of delegates from various societies and organizations representing the British empire, held on Tuesday under the auspices of the Foreign Nations' Committee at the British Ambulance Society, resolutions were adopted, urging all British subjects resident in Southern California, to lend their aid in putting this district over the top in the fourth Liberty Loan drive.

A general committee was appointed of the presidents of the various British societies with Harry Gearing, president of the Canadian Society of Southern California, as general chairman and Francis D. Adams, secretary of the Canadian Society, as secretary.

An Unbroken Chain of Boiling Points

The value of gasoline lies in the uniform continuity of its boiling points. In Red Crown, the Gasoline of Quality, the boiling points form a continuous, uniform chain.

Only a straight-distilled, all-refinery gasoline can have this continuous, uniform chain. Mixtures always have "holes" in them.

Red Crown is a straight-distilled, all-refinery gasoline having the full and unbroken chain of boiling points: Low boiling points for easy starting, medium boiling points for quick and smooth acceleration, and high boiling points for power and mileage.

Look for the Red Crown sign before you fill.

BOGUS CHECKS HER SPECIALTY.

Woman Twice Given Probation Faces New Charges.

Arraigned in Two Courts, She is Held by Both.

Two Other Warrants Ready in Pigeonholes.

With an additional complaint ready to be served and two other warrants in the pigeonhole, Hattie E. Paul, so-called specialist in the passing of fictitious checks, was held for trial in the Superior Court in $1000 bail by Justice Brown yesterday. She was then escorted into the court of Justice Forbes, next door, where she was arraigned in an additional $1000 bail on another bogus check charge.

On top of this, Hattie must face Judge Willis in the next day or two on charges of violation preferred by Capt. Dodds, county probation officer. She had been previously placed on probation twice by Superior Court judges following trials for passing spurious checks. It is declared that Hattie will prefer to go to jail for violating probation rather than face the new charges against her.

Hattie was arrested following a visit to the store of Mrs. Mack Berenzweig at No. 4521 Central avenue. Mrs. Berenzweig recognized her as the person who passed an alleged fictitious check on her in a former store on Central avenue, and after a spirited chase Hattie was caught by the woman's husband.

Detective agencies are said to be in possession of at least a score of bogus checks passed by the woman, according to Deputy District Attorney Hill.

ASK PRESIDENT TO BE CARNIVAL GUEST.

[ADVERTISING.]

President Woodrow Wilson is expected to send a personal message to be read at the soldiers' and sailors' carnival to be held at Exposition Park, Monday. Chairman F. W. Blanchard wired the White House yesterday, inviting the President to attend, or to designate a personal representative to open the all-day ceremonies and to read the Presidential greeting to the soldiers, sailors and patriots of Southern California. Telegraphic invitations also were sent to former Presidents Taft and Roosevelt and to United States Senators Phelan and Johnson to attend the defenders' fete.

FRENCH WORD BOOK FREE.

French is understood in every country on the globe, and it is more nearly than any other an international language.

Many of our boys will return from France speaking the language of that country, and undoubtedly they will be followed by thousands of others who know no other tongue.

Therefore it is desirable that as many of our people as possible acquire at least a working knowledge of that language.

As a means of contributing to that end, and appreciating the need of a simple yet complete word book, the Los Angeles Times, through its information bureau at Washington, D. C., has obtained from the United States Marine Corps a handy pocket edition, of the most generally used French words for free distribution to readers of The Times.

This book gives a very easy introduction to the great French language.

Readers of The Times who desire to procure a copy of this excellent French word book before the supply is exhausted may do so by sending their names and addresses, with a 2-cent stamp for return postage, to THE LOS ANGELES TIMES' INFORMATION BUREAU, Frederick J. Haskin, director, WASHINGTON, D. C.

This book positively cannot be obtained from the Los Angeles office of The Times.

FOR JEWISH SOLDIERS.

All in Camps Near Here and San Diego will be Entertained During the New Year.

The Counsel of Jewish Women, the Sisterhood of B'nai B'rith Temple and various Jewish orthodox organizations have combined to provide hospitality for all Jewish soldiers and sailors in the cantonments near Los Angeles and San Diego during the days commemorating the Jewish new year. The War Department has granted furloughs to those men desirous of availing themselves of this hospitality, and the religious ceremonies conducted during that time.

The committee in charge is under the direction of Philip Stein and Mrs. S. G. Marschutz. The committee is in need of co-operation of those who will aid in providing meals and lodging for the men who will be in attendance. The common meeting place of all the men who will attend will be the Angelus Hotel, between 2 and 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

A programme of dancing, music and speaking will be presented Sunday evening at B'nai B'rith Hall, No. 711 West Seventeenth street, instead of Eagles' Hall, as was previously announced.

TO BE PROSECUTED FOR BEATING SON.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY REFUSES TO DISMISS COMPDAINT AGAINST MAN.

Henry W. Brown, prominent in lodge and business circles in Los Angeles and Santa Monica, will be prosecuted on a charge of battery growing out of an alleged beating administered his 10-year-old son, despite the fact that his wife now desires the complaint against him dismissed.

Dist.-Atty. Woolwine made this declaration yesterday after Deputy District Attorney Clark had been instructed by him to proceed with the preliminary examination of Brown before Justice Brown at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Mrs. Helen A. Brown experienced a change of mind after filing a complaint against her husband late Saturday afternoon and visited the District Attorney with a request that the proceeding be dismissed. This Mr. Woolwine refused to do, after viewing photographs of young Henry Brown showing at least thirty welts, some of them cut in the flesh, on the lad's body, as the result, it is alleged, of a knotted rawhide whip applied by his father.

Brown is at liberty on $250 bail. He resides in Venice.

FOR FRENCH RELIEF.

State Branch of American Committee to Aid Devastated France is Organized Here.

The California State Branch of the American Committee for the Relief of Devastated France was organized yesterday afternoon at the California Club, with L. N. Brunswig as president, Frank P. Walsh, treasurer, J. T. Cooper, secretary, and George Fusenot, chairman of the Executive Committee. The meeting, which was attended by sixty representatives of all of the leading men's and women's clubs and organizations of the city, was an enthusiastic one, and plans were laid for organizing similar branches in every State along the Pacific Slope. Miss Anne Morgan is in charge of the committee's work in France, and former United States Ambassador to France, Myron T. Herrick, is president of the committee in this country. Countess Madeline de Bryas, who recently visited Los Angeles, in public addresses told the work the committee is doing in France.

CONTESTS PROBATE OF RICH MAN'S WILL.

IDAHO WOMAN ASSERTS LATE M. G. LAWRENCE WAS HER HUSBAND.

Asserting that the late M. G. Lawrence, who died on May 31 in his $25,000 Sierra Madre home, was her husband, and that his true name was Lawrence Gilman Moon, Catherine H. Moon of Sand Point, Idaho, filed a contest to the probate of his will yesterday.

The contestant alleges that her home was broken up in 1906 by the intrusion of a beautiful woman said to be Mrs. Lola A. Kelley, with whom her husband is declared to have come to Southern California, and who posed as his wife at Sierra Madre. When her husband deserted her, he also left five children in her care, the petition states.

Her husband was very susceptible to the charms of pretty women, Mrs. Moon asserts. At the time he left Idaho in 1906 he was said to have had property in his possession amounting to $20,000 besides an "expectancy" of a one-seventh interest in his mother's estate. The petition recites allegations that Mrs. Kelley worked to secure possession of his property and induced him to make his will.

QUITS BATON FOR GUN.

Former Conductor of Venice Band Will Enter the National Army this Week.

Cæsare La Monaca, former conductor of the Venice Band, will set aside his baton and enter the National Army this week as a private recruit from the Santa Monica district, it was disclosed yesterday. La Monaca will carry a gun in lieu of a baton because he has been unable to secure a musician's billet. Following his recent release by the United States authorities as an alleged slacker, La Monaca made the statement that he was to be inducted into the navy as a band leader. It now develops that the former band leader was unable to get into the navy, and that he will be inducted into the army instead.

La Monaca was placed under arrest when he failed to register for the draft. He explained his reasons to the satisfaction of the authorities and was released on condition that he go into the service at once.

BLANKS ARRIVE FOR NEW DRAFT

Questionnaires Being Received by Local Boards.

Advance Registration Asked by Many Japanese.

Six Hundred Leave Here Today for Camp Kearny.

The first large consignments of the questionnaires for the selective service boards of Los Angeles city and county began to arrive yesterday. Some boards had their full allotment by evening, while others had received only a few.

A new phase of the advance registration came up yesterday when the Japanese Consulate informed board members that many Japanese will leave the United States on September 18 on a steamer sailing on that date. The representatives were informed that these men would be given their classification immediately after registration.

There are about 5000 Japanese in Los Angeles city, according to H. Matsuno, secretary of the Japanese Association of Los Angeles, and Seuchi P. Akana of the Japanese Consulate. U. Oyama, the Japanese Consul, through the association, has made arrangements to have interpreters at central points in the city, the locations to be announced later.

Considerable discussion has arisen as to just what ages are included in the 18 to 45 draft. The ages are both inclusive, but some of the local boards hold that if a man's forty-sixth birthday is on September 12 he must register. Others hold that that excludes him. Telegrams were sent to Adjt.-Gen. Borree yesterday, asking that he communicate with the Provost-Marshal-General and obtain a ruling.

Announcement was made yesterday by different boards that registration can be made at various places in one district, the locations to be announced later.

Men in the 1AA class already notified by boards leave Los Angeles at 9:40 o'clock this morning by the Santa Fe for Camp Kearny. The 602 men from Los Angeles and 408 from the outside county and from San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties will be given an ovation at the station. A band will accompany some of the men from the City Hall to the station. They are part of 3800 from California to entrain for Camp Kearny this week.

Selectives of Jewish faith who desire to remain over the Jewish new year must communicate with their boards and get permission.

TERMS EXPIRE, REAPPOINTED.

County Officers Continued in Their Jobs by the Supervisors.

Because the Supreme Court held in the case of County Treasurer Hunt, in the ouster suit of the county, that he was a holdover and that the Board of Supervisors had the power to appoint him when his term had expired, the board by resolution yesterday appointed to office County Clerk Lelande, Public Administrator Bryson, Coroner Hartwell, Recorder Logan, Superintendent of Schools Keppel, Tax Collector Welch, Treasurer Hunt, Fish and Game Warden Powers and Live Stock Inspector Hurt, whose terms had expired.

Chairman Hamilton of the board declined to vote. He took the ground that civil service examinations should be held as to these county officers. Some of these officials were elected to office as far back as 1914. Recently the county held a civil service examination for County Auditor, and Herbert A. Payne passed and was appointed to the office by the Supervisors.

FOR JEWISH NEW YEAR.

Many Services Planned to Observe Festival that Begins Tomorrow Evening.

The Jewish New Year, 5679, will begin at sundown tomorrow. With the reformed Jewish congregations New Year lasts until sundown of Saturday, but the orthodox Jews have a two days' New Year observance.

The observance of this solemn festival at B'nai B'rith Temple, Ninth and Hope streets, will begin with a service at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, when Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin will speak on "Why I Am a Jew." At 9 o'clock on Saturday morning there will be a special New Year service for the children, at which Rabbi Magnin will also speak, and at the regular 10 o'clock services Dr. Sigmund Hecht will speak on "Aims and Ambitions." The choir will be augmented, and there will be special music programmes at each of these services.

arrived, signed by the name of a friend, stating that Wright was dying, but Mrs. Wright had determined to bring suit for annullment.

In his marriage license application to marry Mrs. Wright, who was then Mrs. Madeline Stearns of No. 742 South Harvard boulevard, Wright stated that he had been married before, but had been divorced in Arizona. When confronted with the record of the subsequent San Francisco marriage, Mrs. Wright says, her husband told her that this wife had been drowned on the excursion steamer Eastland at Chicago, July 24, 1915, but Mrs. Wright has evidence, she says, which she will introduce at the trial, that Mrs. Rose De Lona Wright was in a hospital at San Francisco at the time of the Eastland disaster, and that she has been heard from in Denver as late as October.

Mrs. Wright had known her husband as a family acquaintance about eight years. He was in the amusement business at Venice. Her first husband was E. Roger Stearns, automobile agent and racer and president of the Automobile Dealers' Association, who was accidently killed en route to San Diego July 20, 1912. Only a few days before the automobile accident he had insured himself for $100,000, which went to his widow and two children, Jessie and Roger.

COMPLAINS, NOW HE IS OUT OF A JOB.

Henry Soukissan, assistant janitor of the Hollingsworth Building, complained to C. L. Keep, special agent of the Department of Justice, yesterday that his superior, Gus Mark, head janitor of the building, had been guilty of seditious language, having indulged in remarks about President Wilson and the conduct of the war that did not comport with loyalty. When Soukissan returned to his work he found that he had been "fired" by Marks for reporting the alleged unpatriotic statements, it is said. No arrests were made, but an investigation is on.

SUBMIT NEW BUDGET, PLAN.

Council to Consider Proposed Amendment to City Charter.

City Attorney Stephens yesterday submitted to the City Council the proposed executive budget plan, which may be placed on the November election ballot for consideration as a charter amendment. The Council laid the matter aside for a few days to give its various points careful consideration.

One of the features of the measure is that it will change the date for the beginning of the fiscal year from July 1 to October 1. It will also require each department head to submit to the Council an estimate of the probable cost of running his department a year, and if his estimate should be adopted and placed in the budget he would be required to conduct the department on that amount.

The executive budget plan was worked up by a civic conference committee, submitted to the Mayor, referred to the Council, and redrafted by the City Attorney. Within ten days it may be in shape to consider as a charter amendment.

NEW IDEA IN FLAGS.

A new idea in the form of an American flag has been devised by Mrs. B. Hughes, No. 122 West Twenty-seventh street, and Mrs. R. M. Smith, No. 7420 Moneta avenue. The flag is a quilt made up as an American flag, six by eight feet, and surrounded by the Red Cross emblem. The women have been several weeks making the handsome banner and it will be presented to the Red Cross officials at Tenth and Main streets. It is probable that the quilt or flag will be either auctioned or raffled off, the proceeds going to the Red Cross

"Round-up Week."

GREAT AERIAL PARADE TO BE SEEN SATURDAY.

THE greatest aerial pageant that Los Angeles ever has seen will be witnessed Saturday morning, when two squadrons of ten airplanes each are scheduled to fly over the city between 11 and 11:30 o'clock, starting their Southern California sky tour from San Diego, and with Pasadena as their destination. This great fleet of airships will carry as passengers a picked team of baseball players from North Island, who are scheduled to meet a picked nine from the Submarine Base at San Pedro in Pasadena Saturday afternoon. The game will be for the benefit of their athletic funds, and the United States government has sanctioned the conveying of the players in this manner, partly with the view of demonstrating the practicability of the modern airplane. On Sunday afternoon at Washington Park a game will be played between the sailors and aviators, this event being prefaced by a daring exhibition of aeronautics by one of the most skilled instructors in the country.

En route up from San Diego Saturday morning this fleet of twenty airplanes will bombard the coast cities, and deluge Los Angeles with more than 100,000 war savings bulletins, proclaiming the advent of "round-up week," reminding citizens of their pledges to purchase War Stamps.

During round-up week, which concludes Admission Day, Motley H. Flint, Los Angeles city and county chairman of the National War Savings Committee, is directing a vigorous campaign to boost the sale of War Savings Stamps; to secure so far as possible the fulfillment of pledges to purchase a stipulated number of "baby bonds" during 1918, and to bring Los Angeles up to its required quota of war savings societies.

To this end, under the direction of the precinct war savings societies, a complete canvass is being made throughout the city in order to check up on the pledges.

Urban Military Academy

"The Military School with the Home Life"

TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 15th.

Attractively situated in the beautiful Westlake district, just adjoining Westlake Park, and one of the exclusive residential sections of Los Angeles. A military school of home environment exclusively for young boys. Well equipped dormitories and open-air sleeping apartments during the entire year. A school offering exceptional advantages by constant supervision of the boy—his daily home life, school activities and at play. All kinds of outdoor athletics suitable for young boys. Parents will find just the refinements and the home supervision which will make for well-trained minds and bodies.

By reason of small classes pupils receive individual attention. As a result of this, greater power of concentration is developed in the boy.

How You Hate Those Greasy Dishes!

And the pots and kettles that you have to scrape. Unless you have learned, as have thousands of other women, of this easier, better way to clean table and kitchenware. Sprinkle into your dish-water. It makes dish-washing easy because it cuts grease instantly off dishes and silver, pots and pans, and puts a wonderful lustre on glass, and cleanses hygienically because it is mildly antiseptic.

Endorsed by all health authorities. Used wherever hygienic cleanliness must be maintained.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood to Get Rid of It Permanently.

You have probably been in the habit of applying external treatments, trying to cure your Catarrh. You have used sprays, washes and lotions and possibly been temporarily relieved. But after a short time you had another attack and wondered why. You must realize that catarrh is an infection of the blood and to get permanent relief the catarrh infection must be driven out of the blood. The quicker you come to understand this, the quicker you will get it out of your system. S.S.S., which has been in constant use for over fifty years, will drive the catarrhal poisons out of your blood, purifying and strengthening it, so it will carry vigor and health to the mucous membranes on its journeys through your body and nature will soon restore you to health. You will be relieved of the droppings of mucous in your throat, sores in nostrils, bad breath, hawking and spitting.

All reputable druggists carry S.S.S. in stock and we recommend you give it a trial immediately.

The chief medical adviser of the Company will cheerfully answer all letters on the subject. There is no charge for the medical advice. Address Swift Specific Company, 432 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.
